Red Army Smashes Repeated German Drives Near Orel

Enemy Throwing In Fresh Troops in Efforts to Regain Lost Positions

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—The Red Army was reported officially tonight to have smashed repeated German efforts to regain lost positions north of Orel for the fourth straight day, but the enemy is throwing fresh troops into action on this sector, where it has been expected the Germans would launch a Summer offensive.

In contrast to German High Command reports of only "local activity" in Russia, the Thursday midnight Moscow communique said the Germans had suffered "heavy losses in manpower and material" northwest of Mtsensk, which is forty miles north of Orel, in "unceasing attempts" to regain several villages recently overrun by the Red Army.

The Germans are "bringing fresh troops into action," said the bulletin, recorded by the Soviet monitor.

A foreign source in London, which has reliable contacts inside Germany, said the Germans had planned a powerful offensive in the Orel sector, to begin June 16, but said it was postponed at the last moment when Field Marshal Gen. Fedor Von Bock discovered inadequate supplies at forward bases.

BERLIN EXPECTS RUSSIAN DRIVE

Berlin, on the other hand, said the Russians themselves are planning to launch a major campaign in the same sector. German broadcasts recorded by The Associated Press suggested the Red Army would strike within three weeks.

Planes Raid Allied Area Third Time

Forty Japanese Craft Strike at Bena Bena

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 18 (Friday) (CP).—Forty Japanese planes raided the area of Bena Bena, ninety miles northwest of Lae, yesterday for the third straight enemy strike at that sector, the high command announced.

Four Japanese planes raided Port Moresby and one was hit by anti-aircraft fire.

Eight Japanese barges were destroyed and twelve damaged by Allied bombers near Lae.

As on the previous two raids, the communique said little about the Bena Bena attack other than to report it. The sector which has emergency landing fields has not been mentioned prior to the raids.

Tuesday fifty-seven enemy planes were sent against the area, twenty-seven of them bombers. Wednesday six bombers and six fighters formed the raiding party.

NORTH OF JAPANESE BASES

The Bena Bena area, inland from the North Coast of New Guinea, is considerably north of the Japanese bases of Lae and Salamaua, long threatened by infiltrating Allied troops from the south whose front line is at Mubo, twelve miles south of Salamaua.

The Allied attacks near Lae were directed at the type of transportation favored by the enemy to bring supplies down the coast of Lae.

On New Britain Island, medium bombers and attack planes went after the airdrome and supply dumps at Cape Gloucester after which a four-engined bomber got in some blows.

Bombers struck at the oil field of Port Boela, starting large fires. The smoke rose 3,000 feet. On the Kai Islands, fires were started on the airdrome at Langkgoer which could be seen for forty miles. Anti-aircraft guns were put out of action.

The communique's report on the Bena Bena raiding was:

"Ramu River; at midday, eighteen bombers escorted by twenty-two fighters, raided the native villages of Bena Bena, Asaloka and Atsura."

The plane hit by anti-aircraft fire over Port Moresby was last seen afire and losing altitude.

His Majesty Sees British, U.S. Warships

Inspects Units of Mediterranean Fleet

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, June 15 (Delayed) (CP).—The King today inspected units of the combined British and American Fleet in the Mediterranean and met some of the war correspondents who covered the rout of the Axis armies in North Africa.

His Majesty met the correspondents aboard a British warship. Thirty of them stood in line and introduced themselves as the King walked past them, stopping to ask questions and recognizing many of the names he heard. "I know your name very well," he said to some. "I have read many of your dispatches."

The King spent more than an hour among detachments of sailors and marines lined up between warehouses and the waterfront before he boarded an American warship to review the personnel.

Wearing the uniform of an admiral of the fleet and decorations which recalled his part in the First Great War when he served with the Royal Navy in the Battle of Jutland, the King boarded an American battleship to spend about twenty minutes with the men. As he was piped over the side a spontaneous "God Save the King" rose from the ranks and three cheers echoed over the harbor.

As he left the British ship, moored alongside the American vessel, the Britons followed the traditional Royal Navy custom of waving their

British Radio Urges Evacuation of Areas Occupied by Germans

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—The C.B.C. short wave listening post tonight reported the B.B.C. had broadcast an appeal in several languages to the people of occupied Europe urging them to evacuate areas in which German troops, military headquarters and factories are situated.

The B.B.C. said those who remain in such districts expose themselves to unnecessary dangers, adding the Allied air forces will intensify their activities and bomb military objectives more violently than ever.

It was noted that similar warnings had been broadcast from London previously but today's broadcast said it was more important than ever that the civilian populations should get out at once.

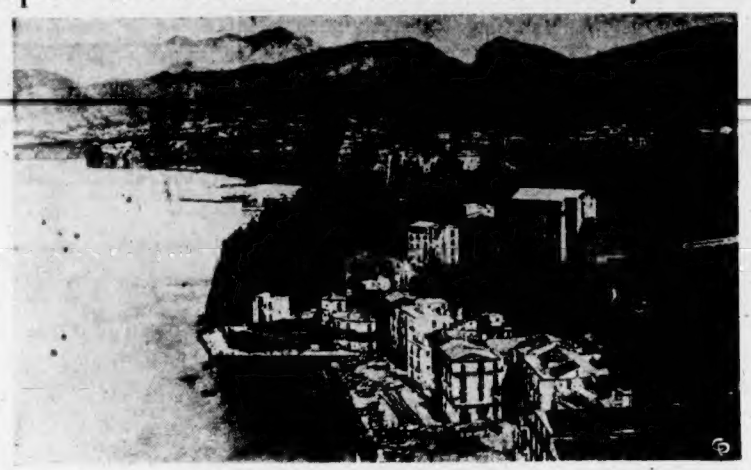
Capture of Sorrento Would Cut Off Toe of Italy



If an Allied invasion force bound for Italy were to select the most beautiful and romantic spot on the Italian coast for its initial landing, it would probably choose Sorrento on the Bay of Naples, pictured here. Famed for ages in poetry and song, this ancient Italian walled city commands a picturesque view of sea and mountains. Militarily, an army in possession of Sorrento and its network of fine roads could easily outflank Naples and cut off the toe and heel of Italy from the rest of the country.

Island Logger Arraigned in Court On Molly Justice Murder Charge

With the arraignment in Saanich police court yesterday afternoon of William Mitchell, fifty-year-old Island logger, on a charge of murdering Anita Margaret (Molly) Justice, Victoria girl found stabbed to death on the C.N.R. tracks near her home last January 18, the five-month-old crime that has puzzled local police officials seemed near a solution.

Mitchell was arrested last Sunday on a statutory offence charge and held by police on remand. Yesterday he was formally charged with the murder of Molly Justice and remanded until next Thursday.

"I am not guilty," Mitchell stated as Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, read the charge before Magistrate H. C. Hall. Ernest L. Tait appeared with Mr. Harrison. Accused was not represented by counsel.

Police had sought Mitchell for several weeks, it was said, on the Mainland and at Up-Island logging camps where he worked.

Fifteen-year-old Molly Justice was attacked early in the evening at the intersection of Darwin Avenue and the C.N.R. tracks on her way home from the General Warehouse, where she worked. Her mutilated body was found bearing a score of wounds. She was the daughter of Mrs. Muriel R. Justice, 861 Brett Avenue, Saanich.

Two bloodstained parcels carried by the girl were found near a spot

Ambassador Recalled By Turkey

BERNE, June 17 (CP).—Turkey has recalled Behic Erkin, its ambassador to France, in protest against strong German restrictions on his embassy in Vichy, a Turkish diplomatic source said today.

Erkin's recall to Ankara was not considered a rupture in relations between Turkey and German-occupied Vichy, this source said, but it could be a step in that direction. A Turkish Embassy counsellor, M. Seydat, also was told to return home.

The move occurred on the eve of the anniversary of the singing of a German-Turkish friendship treaty June 18, 1941, and as German propagandists were asserting that Germany is "fully satisfied" with Turkey's political position despite Anglo-American intimations—increasing in number of late—that Turkey already had made its choice in favor of the Allies.

The whole affair served to focus still more attention on the military and political situation in Southeastern Europe and the Middle East, coming as it did at a time when Allied leaders had sealed the Syrian-Turkish border to "protect troop movements" in Allied Syria, and when persistent reports said that Germany's Balkan satellites were seeking a means of escaping the Axis camp.

The German Transocean Agency reported in an Ankara dispatch that Premier-General Nuri Pasha Es Said, of Iraq, had issued an order of the day to his troops saying "the hour of decision and active service was approaching." Iraq joined the war against the Axis last January.

Russia Denies Peace Meeting

LONDON, June 18 (Friday) (CP).—Russia today formally denied a report published in the pro-Nazi Stockholm newspaper Aftenbanda that German and Russian representatives had met in the Swedish capital to discuss possible peace.

The report earlier was refuted by Mrs. Alexandra Kollontay, Soviet minister to Sweden.

The formal denial, issued through Tass, Soviet news agency, said in part:

"It (the report) alleged that these discussions dealt with territorial questions and Tass is authorized to deny this report as clearly clumsy and laughable."

ALERT IN SOUTH

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17 (AP).—Preliminary alerts were ordered in the San Francisco Bay area tonight, and the all clear was given at 11:25 p.m. P.D.T., when "a target" was identified as friendly. No blackout was ordered. Sacramento also reported a radio silence. It was the twenty-seventh alert of the war in San Francisco. The last previous one was March 16.

REPORT CONCENTRATIONS

LONDON, June 18 (Friday), (CP).—The Rome radio in a broadcast recorded by Reuter's News Agency said early today that "large British forces are concentrating along the southern frontier of Turkey." The Rome radio previously told its listeners of "many landing craft concentrating from African coasts toward Pantelleria." The broadcast apparently was Italy's interpretation of the closing of the Syrian-Turkish border. There was no confirmation from Allied quarters.

Majority Will Decide on All French Issues

Giraud-De Gaulle Committee Agrees

ALGIERS, June 17 (AP).—The French Empire's infant provisional government cleared away today three major obstacles to unity and efficient wartime rule.

Meeting for the first time in plenary session, thirteen members of the French Committee for National Liberation took these steps to eliminate the quarrelsome confusion which had reigned in Algiers for a week.

Organized the committee and agreed on its procedure.

Discussed the issue dividing Generals Charles de Gaulle and Henri Giraud—the reorganization of the French armed forces and their command—and arranged to make decisions on the basis of majority vote.

Sponsored a study toward the creation of a consultative assembly whereby public opinion could be given more forceful expression during the time when no legislative branch of government exists.

By these actions the committee, with Giraud president, remedied the political paralysis which had gripped French administration, while the committee itself had been a mere paper body and the seven original members had appeared to let the six other appointees wait out in the cold.

Clear Way for Settlement of Steel Problem

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) said tonight after a meeting of officials of the U.S.W.A. with Labor Minister Mitchell and other Labor Department officials that he believed "the way has been cleared for a satisfactory settlement of the wage adjustment problem at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sydney, N.S., and Trenton, N.S."

Labor Department sources said there had been "a very satisfactory meeting" with union officials, but gave no details of any settlement proposals.

Mr. Millard said he had sent the following telegrams to unions at the three steel centres:

"As a result of conferences with international representatives (Elmer) Maloy and (John) Doherty, the Minister of Labor and other officials, Director (John) Mitchell (of Hamilton) and (Stanley) Hessian (of Sydney) join me in the belief that the way has been cleared for a satisfactory settlement of the wage adjustment problem at Sault Ste. Marie, Sydney and Trenton."

Mosquitos of Malta Strike At Axis Bases

Raid Sicily and Southern Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 17 (AP).—R.A.F. Mosquito bombers from the Malta force—one of the three Allied air arms which have been pounding at the Axis throughout the Mediterranean—have smashed once again at enemy communications and military centres in both Sicily and Southern Italy.

This was disclosed today in a Malta communique, while headquarters here was announcing that bad weather had grounded the great Northwest Africa bombardment squadrons for the first time in more than two months. From this area, only routine patrol and reconnaissance was possible yesterday.

The Mosquitoes hit the railway sidings and docks of Termini-Immerse, a North Sicilian port, with both bombs and cannon fire, and raked a half dozen other targets, including railway bridges and stations in Southern Italy.

At sea, an Axis destroyer escorting a convoy was gunned and there was a brilliant flash astern; a mine sweeper also was raked with fire.

To the sixteen Axis planes previously reported shot down in heavy Allied offensive air action over Monday night and Tuesday, a headquarters announcement today added five enemy craft for a total score of twenty-one in that period.

Urges Hart to Call Conference

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—Byron Johnson, O.B.E., today urged that Premier John Hart call immediately a conference of provincial premiers to discuss Dominion-provincial relations on finances.

Addressing a meeting of a service club, Mr. Johnston said he believed "duration of the war will be comparatively short" and added that "this is the time to prepare for post war rehabilitation. Unless we settle the relations between the Dominion and the provinces we will not be prepared."

Control of finance is the most important aspect of Canada's future, he said, declaring that provincial premiers should get together immediately to discuss this.

Rome Reports Berlin Target Of R.A.F. Planes After 116th Raid on Cologne Industries

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, June 17.—King George's visit to North Africa was a great surprise to the troops there. He made a non-stop flight from Britain last week-end and after consultations with Allied commanders and luncheon with the French generals, visited the troops at various places.

There was a remarkable scene, says The Times' Algiers correspondent, when the King visited the beach at which 3,000 troops were bathing. The news spread among those in the water and swimming records were broken by men as they made for shore.

As the King stood on the veranda of a small villa used by officers, the troops gathered near and sang "God Save the King" with all their might. The King went down and mixed with the men, which was not part of his programme as his aides-de-camp had arranged it.

Then the troops sang, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and French civilians present shouted "Vive Le Roi!"

The King later reviewed the United States Fifth Army and saw a mock attack specially staged for him and including street fighting.

During the King's absence Britain has five councillors of state, namely, the Queen, the Duke of Gloucester, the Princess Royal, Princess Arthur of Connaught, and Lady Southesk, who are next adults in the line of succession to the throne, discharged the Royal functions and duties under the terms of the Regency Act.

These councillors, however, cannot dissolve Parliament without the King's express permission, as this is not included in their duties as set forth in royal letters patent granting them their authority.

Princess Elizabeth, being still a minor, cannot be appointed a councillor of state.

The Times recalls during the King's absence in Canada similar provisions were made to discharge the Royal functions. Not since October, 1270, when Edward, Earl of Chester, soon to become King Edward I, marshaled his armies on the Tunisian shore in preparation for the last crusade, has an English prince met his forces on active service in Africa.

Edward became the first architect of parliamentary institutions and a chief founder of that mighty tradition of self-government in the name of which British, French and Americans seek to liberate the world from the heel of the oppressor.

The tradition holds, adds The Times, King George, twenty-ninth in succession from King Edward.

Gagnon Confers With Union Men

QUEBEC, June 17 (CP).—Conferences between Wilfrid Gagnon, Federal controller of two of the three shipyards tied up here through a walkout of 7,000 employees and Canadian Congress of Labor officials, were adjourned tonight to give the C.C.L. time to study proposals advanced by Mr. Gagnon.

Paul Marquette, provincial director of the C.C.L., said that negotiations which were underway today and tonight were conducted "on good terms," but that he didn't know when the C.C.L. officials would meet Mr. Gagnon again.

Nazi Airmen Drop "Oil Drum" Bombs on Metropolitan London

LONDON, June 18 (Friday) (CP).—R.A.F. bombers ranged over Europe last night for the seventh successive night and the Rome radio reported that Berlin itself, free from attack since May 21, had been one of the targets.

London, meanwhile, was the object of a brief attack during which "oil drum" bombs fell in one metropolitan area, hitting a postoffice and causing some casualties. A British south coast town was reported bombed.

Observers on the British south coast said an apparently large force of R.A.F. heavy bombers was out during the night. Earlier fast British planes had struck out for the French coast, returning a short time later.

Americans Check Big Enemy Raid

Down Seventy-Seven Planes in Battle

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP).—United States airmen knocked seventy-seven Japanese planes out of the sky over Guadalcanal Island Wednesday in one of the greatest and possibly one of the most significant air battles of the war in the South Pacific. Only six United States aircraft are missing as a result of the engagement.

A Navy Department communique today announcing this thirteen-to-one ratio contained no indication as to the Japanese objective in risking so large a force of bombers and fighters in the Southeastern Solomons, where they have been consistently defeated in the air.

In authoritative quarters here, however, it was assumed that the objective must have been one of utmost importance to the enemy and bearing directly on future developments of the war.

MAY HAVE BEEN SEEKING CONVOY

One suggestion was the Japanese might have been trying to reach an American convoy in the area. Another was that they may have intended to cripple the base on Guadalcanal, in the assumption that it was destined to play an important role in the next big Allied thrust northward.

Enemy planes shot down during the engagement consisted of thirty-two bombers and forty-five Zero fighters. The total strength of the enemy force was not reported.

The raiding force was the largest sent by the Japanese Command into the Guadalcanal area since April 7 when fifty bombers and forty-eight fighters attacked a convoy near the Island. At that time thirty-nine of the Nipponese planes were shot down, while American losses consisted of seven planes, two pilots and three ships—a destroyer, a talker and an Allied corvette.

The navy also reported United States forces had struck effectively at enemy bases in both the Solomons area and in the Aleutians sector of the North Pacific. Tuesday bombers, escorted by fighters, assaulted Japanese positions in Western New Georgia Island, the Munda air base area. Next day dive-bombers, with fighter escort, attacked Japanese positions on Choiseul Island, north of the Munda sector. Meanwhile, in the North Pacific on Tuesday afternoon bombers attacked the Japanese base on Kiska Island.

PLEADS GUILTY

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—John Fairfield pleaded guilty in police court today to possession of a gasration book in his possession other than the one issued him. Maximum sentence for the offence is $5,000 or two years in prison, or both. Decision on the case was reserved until Friday.

Keeping up a week-long pounding which culminated Wednesday night in the 116th raid on the industrial city of Cologne, a large force of heavy R.A.F. bombers had been heard passing over the coast early today, apparently heading again for Germany.

Wednesday night's raid on Cologne was again aimed at the heavy concentration of Nazi war industry along the Rhine River, already heavily hammered.

Other pre-invasion air fleets shot up all three ships of a Channel convoy and rail transport on the continent in early morning hours.

Bomb-shattered Cologne, target of the first 1,000-bomber raid May 30, 1942, was last struck in a heavy night assault February 26, when 600 acres of the city were reported devastated.

Many Canadians in the R.A.F. were on the raid. The Air Ministry announced simply that R.A.F. bombers "attacked objectives at Cologne and elsewhere in the Rhineland," but the attack was undoubtedly carefully aimed to destroy reconstruction in communications, ammu-

Find Body of Suspect Cast Up on Beach

Search for Chinese Murderer Ends

The body of Quon Choy Yin, suspected of having murdered Quon Yuen Yen, Victoria Chinese businessman, with a hammer on Wednesday afternoon, was found on the beach below the Kiwanis Club lookout at Beacon Hill Park at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning by M. C. Parkard, Niagara Apartments.

The body showed signs of having been in the water, and police believe it was cast up by the tide at 4 o'clock in the morning. There were bruises on the face, which they thought might have been caused by the Chinese jumping from the rocks into the sea.

Quon Yuen Yen was found in his office at 544 Fisgard Street, at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, dying from a crushed skull. A bloodstained hammer was found beside him. He died in the Royal Jubilee Hospital two hours later.

Chinese witnesses yesterday identified Yin as the man who had been heard arguing with Yuen Yen at his office shortly before the murder. Quon Gai said he attempted to telephone police from 544 Fisgard Street, but had been chased from the building by Quon Choy Yin, who had a hammer in his hand. Fay Lim Bang stated he saw Quon Choy Yin drop the hammer and walk east on Fisgard Street. Herbert Quon also recalled having seen Quon Choy Yin leave the building.

All Wednesday afternoon and during the night, police of Greater Victoria, headed by Chief J. A. McLellan, Detective Inspector J. H. Rogers and Chief Josiah Bull were actively engaged in a search for the missing Chinese suspect.

An inquest into the death of Quon Yuen Yen will be held before Dr. E. C. Hart, the coroner in the B.C. Funeral Company parlor at 10:15 o'clock Saturday morning. The date of an inquiry in the case of Quon Choy Yin will then be set.

German Radio Says Frontier Of Syria Open

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—The German radio, quoting a D.N.B. dispatch from Ankara, said tonight that the frontier between Turkey and Syria had been opened again, but the report was not confirmed by any Allied or neutral source.

The German broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press, said the Taurus Express was again operating in the direction of Syria, but did not make it clear whether it was interred from that alone that the frontier was open. Ankara dispatches already had disclosed that the Taurus Express was permitted to cross the border at least once after the official closing.

CLOSING OF FRONTIER IS SUGGESTIVE MOVE

THE above map shows the eastern end of the Mediterranean, the Levant States, Syria, Latakia and Lebanon, whose boundaries with Turkey have been closed. Allied forces are gathered in Syria, Iraq and Iran, and supplied through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Persia. It is known that considerable strength has been massed on the Island of Cyprus, where large-scale invasion exercises have recently been carried out. It is possible that attempts will shortly be made to gain possession of the Islands of Rhodes and Crete, which guard the approaches to the Aegean Sea.

Nearly Forty Thousand Japanese Wiped Out

Strong Counter-Offensive of Chinese Recovers Almost Entire "Rice Bowl" Area

CHUNGKING, June 18 (Friday) (AP). — Approximately 40,000 Japanese were killed or wounded in the forty-day battle for the Upper Yangtze River, a Chinese army spokesman said today.

"Less than two-thirds of the entire Japanese force thrown into the battle managed to escape from the Chinese trap," he declared.

The Japanese, striking south of the Yangtze River at points between their big bases at Ichang and Yochow, for a time had seriously threatened China's vital "rice bowl," but the Chinese have virtually recovered the entire area in a strong counter-offensive supported by American and Chinese airmen.

Chinese troops at present are fighting on the outskirts of Owchihkow, on the right bank of the Yantze ninety miles southeast of Ichang, and Lieut.-General Joseph W. Stillwell's headquarters announced yesterday that United States planes caused many fires and extensive damage there Tuesday in supporting attacks.

The United States bulletin said the Americans attacked the warehouse area of the city at Lotus Pond Inlet, and also announced that a greatly outnumbered force of American planes the day before had destroyed six Japanese planes and probably destroyed three others in a battle southwest of Nanchang. No American planes were lost.

The Chinese High Command said Chinese units intercepted Japanese troops near the Canton-Hankow Railway, east of the Owchihkow sector, and a fight presumably is still going on in that area, where Chinese troops have been constantly harassing Japanese communications.

The army spokesman's declaration of 40,000 casualties had followed his recent assertion that the Japanese had employed 100,000 men in the unsuccessful offensive.

Today he said that other Japanese troops west of the Salween River in Yunnan Province adjoining the Burma border had begun an offensive, but declared that Chinese troops were checking their advance.

COMMANDOS DISAPPOINTED

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—The manner in which Pantelleria fell to the Allied forces was a "great disappointment to combined operations," Lord Mountbatten, commander of combined operations, said jocularly today in an address to the Naval Club. Italy's island fortress in the Sicilian narrows seemed an interesting place for combined operations to take on, he said, but the bombardment from the sea and air "went too far."

passes the new crusaders in review and wishes them Godspeed.

The King brought three messages to the United Kingdom, the Dominions and Indian troops in North Africa.

First one of gratitude and pride in the glorious victories which have freed Africa from the threat of dark and sinister despotism.

Secondly, one of confidence in all ranks who may soon be called upon to pit themselves against the Axis power in Europe, and,

Thirdly, one to remind them of all their friends at home who are praying for their safe and victorious return and pledging themselves to work with them in peace for building a world worthy of the sacrifices that have been made for its foundation.

The Labor Party, says The Times editorially, has refused to take any step in its annual conference that would weaken national unity for prosecution of the war. It decisively refused to end the electoral truce during the war and it was obvious any other decision would cast lasting discredit on the party.

Altogether, it was made apparent that any withdrawal of confidence in the Labor ministers would wreck the Government and leave Labor to suffer the chilling reproaches of the people.

There will, therefore, be no political crisis, and, though a Labor conference will be called when Germany is beaten, to decide upon the life or death of the Churchill Coalition, no one can foresee what will be the right time to break up a truly National Government.

The Finns have refused German demands to send a battalion of Finnish Fascists to join the Nazi army in the Murmansk area in Far North Finland. General Dietl has about 150,000 men there but the Finnish troops were wanted so as to entangle Finland more closely in the war.

However, says The Times' Stockholm correspondent, Finland is showing no further desire to get out of the war and talk of a separate peace has died down.

Smash Nazi Drives

The Red Air Force kept up its pounding of rear-line German bases, an offensive jibing with Allied blows struck in the West to weaken Axis war-making capacities.

Long-range Russian bombers started 100 big fires on German airdromes Wednesday night, a special Moscow announcement said. Explosions also were touched off in ammunition dumps and hangars and parked planes were damaged in raids that cost the Russians two planes.

The effectiveness of these raids, in conjunction with the heavy British attacks on the Ruhr's munitions factories, would appear to be borne out in the foreign source's report that Germany's Summer offensive has been delayed by lack of supplies.

BLOW UP MUNITIONS DUMPS

Moscow's midnight communique also pointed out that in one recent raid on Mogilev, German rail and river base on the Upper Dnieper 250 miles northwest of Orel, the Red Air Force blew up three ammunition dumps, smashed many railway trains and the bridge over the Dnieper and killed several hundred Germans.

The communique said that during Wednesday's operations on various sectors of the long Russian front, the Red Air Force destroyed at least twenty German trucks carrying troops and supplies, silenced three artillery batteries and blew up five ammunition and fuel dumps and several enemy trains.

Outnumbered Russian troops defending a height in the Belgorod sector south of Orel were reported to have killed 125 Germans in a successful local fight, on the Volkhov front southeast of Leningrad another 150 Germans fell to Soviet mortar and machine-gun fire, and a Finnish group was repulsed on the Karelian front north of Leningrad.

Tojo Admits Trouble Near

Tells Diet Situation "Increasingly Tense"

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP).—Premier General Hideki Tojo, addressing an extraordinary session of the Japanese Diet yesterday said the war situation is becoming "increasingly tense" and that there are increasing signs of an impending Anglo-American offensive on a large scale, the Tokio radio reported.

The Premier assured the Diet, however, that new blows being developed by the Allies "are things which Japan naturally has foreseen."

The Premier did not refer to recent Japanese defeats on Attu Island in the Aleutians and in Central China, but asserted Japanese troops were carrying out "grand scale" operations in China, along the Burmese-Indian frontier and in the Pacific.

The Diet, which has no voice in the formulation of Japanese policy and is little more than a rubber stamp for legislation decided upon by Tojo and his military advisers, was not permitted to question the Premier concerning his report on the war.

CLAIMS OCCUPIED REGIONS CO-OPERATE

Tojo asserted that the occupied regions of East Asia were giving Japan the "utmost co-operation" to bring the war to a successful conclusion and promised that Japan would exert every effort to help India "expel and eliminate Anglo-Saxon influences, which are the enemy of India in every true sense of the word."

The Premier also promised the Philippines "independence" within the year and said that a new "independent" Burmese state would be set up soon.

The Government later introduced eight major bills—among them a 620,000,000 yen supplementary budget for the army and navy. The yen has a nominal value of about 23 cents.

Measures also were introduced to give the Government greater control over business and industry.

FOURTEEN BIG PLANES LOST

The foray cost fourteen big planes with one fighter also lost, the Air Ministry said.

The German communique said bombs fell on residential quarters, "especially in Cologne, and caused losses among the population and damage to buildings."

Every one of the three ships in the convoy caught off the coast of Holland was damaged, one so severely it probably sank.

In almost hourly sweeps over the Continent, R.A.F. fighters shot down a total of nine German fighters during the day. Two of the raiders failed to return.

The Germans put a so-called "Front-Line Reporter" back on the air again tonight to buck up the bomb-nervous industrial workers of the west, and D.N.B.'s military correspondent in a 1,000-word story maintained that Allied bombing wasn't doing much military damage.

The "Front-Line Reporter" in a broadcast from "the terror-scarred western part of Germany," declared that "all people are equally affected. All have to stay put. All suffer. All have to co-operate . . .

"More than once," said the broadcast recorded by The Associated Press, a German fighter pilot "up over the Rhine River was attacking an enemy aircraft when he saw from some 3,000-feet altitude how his own house was hit."

CANADIANS GET THREE PLANES

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—A Canadian Spitfire wing destroyed three FW-190's in a sweep over Belgium this afternoon, the Air Ministry said tonight, making a total of nine enemy aircraft shot down today. Two R.C.A.F. fighters were reported missing.

J. E. Johnson, English-born commander of a Canadian wing, raised his own score to seventeen planes downed by shooting down another today. The German fighters were destroyed in a series of combats between Ypres and the coast at heights varying from 22,000 to 26,000 feet.

The wing first encountered a formation of about thirty enemy aircraft. Shortly after a dog fight with them, about twenty more fighters were seen. The Canadians immediately attacked and scattered the formation.

MANY CZECHS EXECUTED

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—The Czecho-Slovak Government announced today that eight Czechs, including one woman, had been executed in Prague on charges of sabotage. The execution of seven others on the same charges was reported June 15. Twenty-nine Czechs were reported executed in May, bringing the total of the first five months of the year to 312.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Store, or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost. If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (Advt.)

Good Neighbor Solves Problem

KAMLOOPS, June 17 (CP).—Here's how the good-neighbor policy worked for the family caught between two wartime conservation orders.

They had just moved, but their oil-burning stove was useless because wartime rules insisted once an oil-burning stove is moved it cannot be supplied in its new location.

The power controller for the Dominion wouldn't let them get the electric water heater connected.

But everything was fine when a garden hose over the back fence. Hot water ran into the tub and everyone in the new family had a bath.

Urge Action on Illegal Houses

The following letter was received at the City Hall yesterday from the Women's Missionary Society of the Centennial United Church, and bore the signatures of Mrs. J. D. Wilson, president, and Mrs. J. M. Hopkins, secretary of the Christian Citizenship Committee:

"The city of Victoria has for many years been looked upon as the paradise of Canada, but it is now in the limelight for conditions far removed from paradise. It has become the breeding place for venereal disease.

"Information given by the Provincial Board of Health ought to have aroused Mayor Andrew McGavin and every member of the City Council to immediate action to close houses of prostitution in Victoria. On the contrary, it was received with annoyance and almost indignation, the claim being made that the figures were too high.

"Now comes the analysis issued by the Pacific High Command headquarters showing that the situation is even worse than Provincial Board of Health figures.

"Listen to this quoted from Department of National Defence records: 'That since the onset of the war, among enlisted personnel who have become infected in houses of prostitution in British Columbia, 76 per cent of such personnel were infected in such premises in the city of Victoria. The Department of National Defence supports the policy of suppression of illegal disorderly houses.'

URGE SPEEDY ACTION TO SUPPRESS "PLAGUE"

"Surely the people of Victoria and the Pacific High Command have a right to expect speedy action by Mayor McGavin and his council in suppressing these plague centres of a dread communicable diseases which spread from those infected to countless innocent people. There are hosts of fine clean lads in the forces who would be glad to see this intolerable situation cleaned up, along with the alcohol trade, which is the fertile mother of venereal disease.

"Could the Nazis or Japanese do anything more effective for their cause than to spread disease among our armed forces? Is it not time we quit helping Hitler in this fashion?

"The health, morality and good name of this city are at stake. The responsibility is squarely on the shoulders of the Victoria City Council."

Nurses Opposing Lower Standards

KAMLOOPS, June 17 (CP).—Kamloops-Tranquille Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia is strongly opposed to any reduction in the educational standards required for admission to the nursing profession. Graduate nurses believe that only by maintaining present standards will they protect the public and future students. A resolution has been unanimously passed embodying their stand.

Heads Dairy Pool

CALGARY, June 17 (CP).—William Burns, Three Hills, was re-elected president of the Southern Alberta Dairy Pool at the annual meeting of directors held here tonight.

The meeting was preceded by a banquet attended by seventy-five members of the pool. The pool's butter production passed the million-pound mark in 1942 for the first time in its history, said Mr. Burns, reporting that the output of the Calgary and Acme plants totaled 1,012,000 pounds for the year.

J. E. Olore, Craigmyle, was elected vice-president; J. H. Rhodes, Brant continues as directing secretary; T. H. Bond, Priddis, and A. O. Butler, Bottrel, were chosen as directors.

Loggers Ask Relief

Claiming that admitted failure to burn slash was due to weather, manpower and other conditions beyond their control, a delegation from the Truck Loggers' Association yesterday asked the Government to ease the customary charge of $5 per acre, and for withdrawal of all fines levied last year.

Unless relief is accorded them, the delegation said, operators will be forced to log smaller areas, which can be slashed with available labor. The delegation consisted of H. J. Welch, Qualicum; O. A. Buck, Nanaimo; F. L. Robson, Duncan; P. E. Belyea, Qualicum; J. H. Bratten, Duncan, and A. G. McCulloch, Alberni.

Nanaimo Man Fined

NANAIMO, June 17 (CP).—Before Stipendiary Magistrate C. H. Beever Potts today John Dool was found guilty of lighting a fire within one-half mile of forest or woodland without first obtaining a permit from the Forest Service and was fined $25 and costs.

Lieut. James A. Ramsey of Victoria Is Among Group of Servicemen Back in Canada

HEADED by a large number of non-commissioned men from R.C.A.F. ground crews who have returned to train as pilots and aircrew, a group of Canadian navy, army and air force personnel are back in Canada.

Wing Cmdr. J. L. Berven, R.C.A.F., of Qu'Appelle, Sask., was returning after a course at the Empire Central Flying School in Britain, where senior pilots and instructors and chief ground instructors are given advanced training.

With him was Sqdn. Ldr. B. L. Terry, Calgary, who had been at the same school.

Sgt. Pilot C. J. Parker, Regina, had been sent home because of injuries after one and a half years with Bomber Command, but was hoping his stay here wouldn't be too long, "with things about to happen."

Successful in his examinations to qualify for a chance at aircrew training Cpl. Pat Lee, of Prince Albert, Sask., was among those returning.

A group of six R.C.N.V.R. officers, five of them engineers—who have been absorbing first-hand training on British destroyers from Murmansk to Oran for the last ten months, were among the arrivals. Heading them was Lieut. James A. Ramsey, of Victoria, overseas for two years on the executive staff of British battle wagons. For a time he was on the new King George V, flagship of the Home Fleet.

The five engineers included Sub Lieut. John Pink, of Winnipeg, and Warrant Engineer Tom Docker, now of Halifax, but formerly of Vancouver.

BRITISH WIVES AMONG ARRIVALS

A group of British wives of Canadian servicemen were among the arrivals.

Mrs. Bill Edwards wasn't expecting any cowboys and Indians, but she felt she was going to learn a little about the romantic West. Her husband, a corporal in the R.C.A.F., is from Stonewall, Man.

He is in Canada now, training for aircrew, but will return to Britain when he qualified as a pilot. His wife wants to stay on in Canada, though, and "become a Canadian."

Also reaching these shores was Mrs. H. Douglas Murray whose pilot officer husband neither she nor her ten-months-old baby boy, Douglas, Jr., will ever see again. Coming to Canada to make her home with her "in-laws," Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Murray, of Vancouver, Mrs. Murray said her husband was killed in a plane accident on the way to hospital after being wounded in a raid over Germany. Her home in England was in Doncaster, Yorkshire.

Here to join her English-born husband in the R.A.F. was Mrs. John Maxwell, of Edinburgh, Scotland, bride of a week when her husband, now a pilot officer instructor at Calgary, was ordered to Canada. "That was more than a year ago," she said: "I am really coming out here on my honeymoon."

A choir of British sergeant-majors sang at an Ilford Home Guard social.

Tramways Men To Get Share If Receipts Up

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—The National War Labor Board in a judgment made public tonight ruled that employees of the Montreal Tramways Company, if the company's receipts in any twelve-month period exceed $15,000,000 are entitled to receive 25 per cent of any excess.

The judgment resulted from an appeal by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees on behalf of the tramway employees from a decision of the Regional War Labor Board in Quebec.

The regional board had ruled in 1942 that employees were entitled to a cost-of-living bonus of $1.80 a week. The national board said the whole matter of the cost-of-living bonus should be remitted to the regional board for action by it.

Is Charged With Two Murders

EDMONTON, June 17 (CP).—Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced late today they had laid a charge of murder against Samuel Baptiste Desjarlais in connection with the shooting to death of George Pappas, Greek fur buyer, whose body was found north of Lac la Biche two weeks ago.

Eighteen-year-old Desjarlais also faces a charge of murder in connection with the death of Carl Hemmingsen, northern trapper, whose body was found in a creek bed near Lac la Biche last month. He had been missing for some time.

Samuel Desjarlais' brother, George, twenty-four, also is charged with murder in the Hemmingsen case and both are being held by R.C.M.P. here after having been brought down from the North.

Post mortems indicated both Hemmingsen and Pappas had died of gunshot wounds.

Car Damaged

Saanich police last night arrested two sailors who, allegedly, were found at Marigold and Burnside Roads in a badly damaged car which had been reported stolen on View Street.

The car, it was said, had collided with a telephone pole. One sailor received minor cuts about the head while the other apparently was injured according to the report. Both men were held at city police headquarters.

Expect Announcement of Important Sea Victory With R.C.N. in Action

Statement Soon to Be Made Believed to Be Most Encouraging News on Battle of Atlantic

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—The most encouraging news of the war from the battle of the Atlantic is expected to be disclosed soon in a statement considered certain to include an account of a Canadian escort group's outstanding success in one of the greatest anti-submarine battles ever fought.

When these details are disclosed the public will get the best news so far from that sphere of the war—a sphere still dominating Allied strategy despite the rising flood of evidence that amphibious operations elsewhere are imminent.

The fighting record of one Canadian escort group in particular is expected to take a major place in this heartening account.

The details are not expected to come right up to date, but will cover operations this group had just completed when Scott Young, Canadian Press staff writer, visited its ships at a Northern Ireland port about a month ago.

The announcement, it is confidently predicted, will give battle honors to some Royal Canadian Navy ships and others operating with Canadian groups and using some Canadian personnel. Included in the account will be names famous to followers of the exploits of Canada's welterweight navy whose convoying record is one of the best of any of the United Nations.

EXPECT TO TELL OF VICTORY

In short, the announcement is expected to be one of an important victory at sea—a victory in which the R.C.N. took a full share, and for which it will receive official approbation outshining any it has previously received in the war.

The only official indication of the statement's significance comes in the disclosure of a speech made by Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair to R.A.F. men in North Africa during his visit there with the King that submarines sunk or damaged last month generally equaled the number of new ones Germany was able to send to the trade routes.

Until last month the curve of U-boat construction was always higher than Allied sinkings.

The battle of the Atlantic is steadily becoming of more and more concern to the Air Ministry with extension of the Coastal Command bomber offensive. Coastal Command bombers now are reaching far out into the Atlantic to search for prey. The Air Ministry long has worked at its other main offensive against submarines—battering their birthplaces on the German coast.

Dogs can now be insured in Britain against street accidents for one shilling (22½ cents) a year premium.

Winch Charges Racketeering In Vancouver

Says He Has Evidence That Would Expose It

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—Harold Winch, Provincial Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party leader, told C.C.F. members at a victory meeting tonight that war racketeering to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars is rampant in Vancouver. "I have evidence that would expose this racket tomorrow," he charged.

"I have conferred with several authorities this week and I know that my information is true, but they tell me I can't tell the public yet because it would give the racketeers time to get under cover. No action has been taken yet, so it looks as if they were being given plenty of time to 'get under cover' alright," he asserted.

MEETING CELEBRATES SEGUR VICTORY

The meeting was held to celebrate Monday's C.C.F. by-election victory of Vincent Segur over Joseph McKinnon, Liberal-Coalition candidate.

Mr. Winch accused the British Columbia Government of "virtually bribing" Revelstoke electors before Monday's election.

"You all remember," he said, "when the Federal Government closed the Ukrainian Hall, twelve miles from Revelstoke, three years ago.

"It was a strange coincidence," he added, "that on the Friday before the by-election the Federal Government wired authorities in Revelstoke that the Ukrainian Hall will be re-opened.

"British Columbia's Coalition Government held a meeting and dance there that night under the motto 'Here's what your Government has done for you.' We got the votes though and it's figures that count."

RECEIVES DEGREE

LENNOXVILLE, Que., June 17 (CP).—Justice Minister St. Laurent at the convocation of the University of Bishop's College today received an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Mining Industry Highly Important In B.C. Economy

The solution of the present problems of the mining industry in British Columbia will be a major problem in the task of reconstruction, Dr. Hartley Sargent, British Columbia Government mining engineer, told members of the Lions Club at a luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

Stating that mining is the most important industry in British Columbia, and it is making a substantial contribution to the war effort, Dr. Sargent described how the labor shortage, combined with the demand for war materials, has forced the mines to reduce development in favor of high production.

"Ore doesn't grow," he warned. "When some is taken out, there is just that much less remaining. At the present rate of production is greater than the development, the reserves are being depleted."

If the war ends and finds the mines with depleted reserves and reduced prices, such as those at which the ore is now selling, the mines will be left in a predicament, he said.

The speaker gave a brief account of the historical development of mining in British Columbia, commencing with the first discovery of coal by the Indians at the north end of Vancouver Island. He told how the impact of gold mining, started in the middle of last century, was very marked on British Columbia, and changed Victoria from a trading post into a booming town.

In the period of 1931-41 approximately $56,000,000 worth of ore was mined, and an average of 14,260 men were employed by the mining industry.

According to Dr. Sargent, the discovery of new supplies of ore is necessary to the economy of the province, and while geological maps and other scientific methods have greatly aided prospecting, some financial scheme to assist and encourage prospectors must be employed.

Called Home

The Associated Press, said this alleged order, together with the closing of the Syrian-Turkish border, and the silence of radio stations at Beirut, Jaffa and Jerusalem, made it possible "that the Anglo-Saxons in the near future will launch a military action from the Levant." Berlin also found a possible explanation in "an intensified war of nerves" on the part of the Allies.

Besides registering a protest against German Gestapo surveillance of the Turkish Embassy in Vichy, another reason advanced for Ehlin's recall was pressure on the part of the Allies, who hope that Vichy will retaliate by recalling Gaston Bergery, its Ankara Ambassador.

Allied quarters hold that Bergery "is too friendly with the Axis; sees too much of German Ambassador to Turkey Von Papen," said this source.

RELATIONS ARE STRAINED

Relations between Vichy and Ankara were reported strained, with the Turks especially angered at the Petain-Laval regime due to German interference.

The German secret police were said to have instituted a close watch recently on the Turkish Embassy at Vichy, forbidding it to use code messages. The embassy was allowed to continue the use of a diplomatic pouch, but, according to this Turkish diplomatic source, the pouch was opened at the border and examined.

Turkey was not the only country whose foreign missions were encountering trouble in France. The Vichy correspondent of The Gazette de Lausanne reported that all foreign consulates in the Mediterranean coastal areas of France had been ordered to move into the interior.

The Swiss consulate at Nice, will be removed to Grenoble, and one at Marseille is going to Montelimar next Monday.

Since the German occupation of all France, Swiss consulates at Bordeaux, Nantes, Le Havre and Lille have been forced to close.

An Algiers broadcast recorded by Reuter's News Agency said Germany had asked Turkey to recall her consul in Mytilene, capital of the Greek island of that name in the Aegean Sea off the Turkish coast 170 miles northeast of Athens. The Turkish consul at Salonika, a likely landing point in an Allied invasion, was reported already recalled.

Packing Plants Strike Averted

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—An impending work stoppage in three Vancouver meat-packing plants was averted tonight when more than 500 workers involved in a wage increase dispute decided to submit their case to the National War Labor Board. The brief will go forward to Ottawa on Friday through the United Packinghouse Workers' Union, an official said.

The workers, employees in the plants of Alberta Meat Co., Ltd., Canadian Packers, Ltd., and Swift Canadian Co., Ltd., planned to strike on Tuesday, but received assurance from the National Board that it was doing its utmost to settle the dispute and the threatened walkout was postponed forty-eight hours.

The workers are asking that the National Board support a ruling of the Regional War Labor Board that their employers pay a wage increase of five cents an hour retroactive to November 3.

FALKLAND, June 17 (CP).—Disturbed while at dinner in his cabin on Spanish Lake, W. J. Ferguson looked up and saw a big black bear standing in the open door. Evidently as surprised as Ferguson, the visitor turned on his heel and left.

Member of Noted Pioneer Family Dies on Mainland

One of the Cowichan district's oldest settlers and a member of an outstanding pioneer family, Horace Davie died yesterday morning in his ninety-fourth year in Vancouver, where he has resided for the last three years.

In 1865, at the age of sixteen, Mr. Davie came with his family to Vancouver Island from England, journeying around Cape Horn in a sailing vessel. The family settled in Somenos, and took up farming there.

Mr. Davie cleared his own farm, which became one of the best in the Cowichan district, and later married Miss Alice Porter, daughter of a pioneer family of Chemainus. He was for many years councillor and reeve of Cowichan district, and took an active part in community affairs.

Two of Mr. Davie's brothers were at one time Premiers of British Columbia, Hon. Alex E. B. Davie, in 1887, and Hon. Theodore Davie, in 1892. Another brother, John C. Davie, was a prominent Victoria doctor in the early days. His nephew C. F. Davie, who lives in Victoria, was speaker in the Provincial House during the Tolmie Administration in 1928.

Mr. Davie is also survived by his widow in Vancouver; one son, Alex Davie, 2980 Graveley Street, Vancouver; a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Underwood, 934 Queens Avenue, Victoria, and three granddaughters, Sylvia Davie and Mrs. E. Jaundrew, Victoria, and Pte. Bertha Underwood, C.W.A.C.

The funeral will take place in Vancouver.

Canada's Honor Roll

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—The Canadian (Active) Army, in its 318th overseas casualty list of the war, containing eight names, tonight named one man previously reported missing as now reported killed in action.

The list also contained the names of two men who have died, three who are dangerously ill and two who are seriously ill.

Defence Headquarters said these casualties were not connected with any specific operation.

The list brought the number of men officially listed as dead since the war began to 1,083 and those officially listed as missing to 822.

Trans-Oceanic Cargo Plane Now Being Made in Canada

Designing of Four-Engined Craft for Future Also Under Way, Howe Tells Ottawa Members

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons tonight a new cargo-carrying plane of "trans-oceanic type" would soon be coming out of Canadian factories and is being made now.

In addition, he said the work of designing a four-engined plane for future Canadian transport work has started. Production was at least two years away.

"But we are doing something that has never been done before. We are designing a plane which will be all-Canadian and which we think will be the plane of the future."

The minister was answering questions about aircraft production from J. G. Diefenbaker (Progressive Conservative, Lake Centre), who questioned why Canada was not expanding aircraft production and getting into production of cargo-carrying planes.

Mr. Howe said Canada is making cargo planes, the Noorduyn Norseman, as rapidly as they can be turned out and went on to tell of the new plane, soon coming out, of trans-oceanic type and the other in the design stage.

Mr. Diefenbaker said 25 per cent of the United States war programme was aircraft production and wanted to know why Canada was not doing more in that line and why engine production had not started.

SPENDING AS MUCH IN PROPORTION

Mr. Howe said Canada is spending proportionately as much as the United States on aircraft production, 25 per cent of the whole war programme, $1,000,000,000 out of a total programme of $3,500,000,000. The same proportion held good for the past two years.

"We are increasing the production of airplanes and working very hard at it. We still have to find quite a few thousand men to bring our production up to our present objective," said Mr. Howe.

He said any man with any skill would be hired if he presented himself at an aircraft plant.

Mr. Howe said the production of Mosquito fighter-bombers had been "sticky" and the time required to get them into full production perhaps had been under-estimated.

Twenty-one Mosquitoes had been accepted, and the objective was a production of 150 a month.

Mr. Howe said that new training planes, with the exception of the new Anson, were in production to capacity. He said that the Catalina flying boat was not yet in full production.

The Lancaster bomber was near production, with the first to be test-flown in the next two or three weeks and the second only hours behind on the assembly line.

DESIGN CHANGES SLOW DIVE-BOMBERS

He said he hesitated to say when the Curtiss navy dive-bomber programme would be underway due to design changes.

The National Steel Car aircraft plant at Malton, Ont., had been taken over by the Government. Subsequent events had justified the Government action. The organization "shaped up splendidly" and would produce efficiently.

The property was taken over as a going concern, and depreciation granted the company, and profits were taken into consideration in the transfer.

The private company directors had discharged a general manager who had a good record for producing airplanes, and the company was without a manager when the Government took over.

The De Havilland plant at Toronto was a subsidiary of a United Kingdom firm. It had a good record in production of trainer planes, both Moths and Albions.

The large plant lead a large part in building the Mosquito. Objectives were set, and were not obtained. Pressure was put on directors "to put their house in order," and differences arose between Canadian and British directors of the plant, and the four Canadian directors resigned. The Government finally stepped in and named the Canadian directors as advisers to the controller of the plant. The Government controllership would be lifted as soon as it was felt the plant was being properly managed.

TELLS OF STEEL REQUIREMENTS

Mr. Howe said in the current year 85 per cent of 1940 steel requirements for farm implements were being provided, a large increase over the amount available last year. He said gasoline stations would be open late for the use of farmers this year on the same basis as in 1942, but he had heard companies had trouble finding men to man their stations for the later hours.

E. E. Perley (Progressive Conservative, Qu'Appelle) urged investigation of a gasoline-saving carburetor by a man named Ball at Weyburn. He said he did not want the same thing to happen to this as happened to the Pogue carburetor, which was now in the hands of the big interests.

The Pogue carburetor also reputed to save much gasoline, was a subject of questioning in the House last year and was invented by a Winnipeg man named Pogue. At that time Defence Minister Ralston said the carburetor would be tested by army experts.

H. C. Green (Progressive Conservative, Vancouver South) said the fuel-wood situation still was serious.

Mr. Howe said the production of wood fuel was a local problem, and communities had the offer of Government assistance. A considerable stock of wood owned by the Government, which could be moved, was hoped for, although he could not promise that communities which failed to look after their own needs would be able to draw from such stocks.

Seek Agreement With Companies

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—International Woodworkers of America, Local 1-71, moved tonight to bring into effect a collective labor agreement between three Queen Charlotte Island logging companies and their employees.

In letters to Kelley Logging Co., Ltd., J. R. Morgan, Ltd. and Pacific Mills Ltd., the union asked that a meeting be arranged between the companies' managements and two of its own officials, H. J. Pritchett, president, and Nigel Morgan, I.W.A. international executive board officer.

The union asks the implementation of a majority report of a conciliation board which investigated the dispute involving union recognition and negotiation of a collective labor agreement.

The board, in a report announced June 10, by Labor Minister Mitchell, recommended that a collective labor agreement of one year's duration be entered into between the three companies and their employees, the agreement subject to termination on thirty days' notice by either party after the one-year term ends.

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 17 (AP).—The Government-controlled Agencia Nacional announced today that seventy-five passengers and crewmen aboard the Belem River ship, Moacir, were reported missing after the vessel sank last night en route from Belem to Manaos. It was believed the sinking was caused by an explosion of the oil cargo. The ship was one of the newest of the Belem-Manaos Line.

SELECTIVE SERVICE

Mr. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, who is also responsible for the operation of the National Selective Service, has given some information to the House of Commons about the operation of the latter in relation to the effort to place more men in the coal mines to overcome the shortage of fuel. An order-in-council was passed on May 17 last "ordering all ex-miners back to the pits. A return to Parliament gave the following table showing vacancies and placements in coal mines during May:

	May 1 Vacancies	May 1-31 Placements	May 31 Vacancies
Pacific	559	340	219
Prairies	753	257	992
Maritimes	1,339	422	1,935
	2,651	1,019	3,146

From the foregoing the indication is that something has been accomplished in the Pacific area inasmuch as while there were 559 vacancies in the coal mines on May 1 the number had been reduced to 219 on May 31. It is different in the Prairie Provinces and in the Maritimes. In those parts of Canada there were 2,092 vacancies in the coal mines on May 1 and the number had increased to 2,927 on May 31. Thus there were 835 more vacancies at the end of May than at the beginning, while on the Pacific Coast there were 340 less. In other words, the total of vacancies in the coal mines of Canada on May 1 was 2,651 and on May 31 it had risen to 3,146. This means that more men were the leaving the mines than were being re-engaged for service there.

In this particular National Selective Service is not working; or perhaps it would be more correct to say that it is working in reverse of the manner in which it is supposed to operate. It is the old story of the Government's timidity in applying anything in the nature of compulsion to adjust the country's man-power situation. National Selective Service, from its inception, has been wholly inadequate. Within the last few months an effort has been made to enforce a redistribution of man-power. How half-hearted this is proving is illustrated in the case of the coal mines, and yet the country is confronted more and more with a fuel shortage during the coming Winter.

IMPERIALISM

A good many American newspaper editors and radio commentators have in the past few years exhibited a lively interest in imperialism and a marked readiness to discuss British imperial and colonial administration in particular. We of the British Empire have long been accustomed to the American practice of pointing out the supposed defects and deficiencies of British imperial policy.

It is perhaps a little difficult to understand why our American friends, neighbors and allies adopt such a highly critical tone in discussing the Empire. The language used by some of these critics, if it came from any other quarter, could hardly be understood in any other sense than as the expression of a wish to see the British Empire dismembered. Coming from the Americans, however, it is not so understood, and therefore it is not resented. No intelligent American really believes that the world would be better off if the bonds uniting the British Dominions and colonies with the Mother Country were dissolved. The vast majority of Americans know very well that the disruption of the Empire would be nothing less than an irreparable disaster to the world at large. A very small minority, however, continue to cherish mistaken ideas of British imperialism which, of course, have their source in the ancient grudge of revolutionary days. To clarify matters let us for a moment consider a certain feature of American political philosophy.

There is no great difficulty in distinguishing the British brand of imperialism from the American variety which was popular about the time of the Mexican War. The specific difference between the two seems to have resided in this, that whereas British imperialism was thought to have been a matter of deliberate choice, American imperialism appeared to be one of ineluctable necessity. The phrase "manifest destiny" was very popular at one time in American politics with those who believed that the United States were destined in time to occupy the entire continent. Those days and that ambition, however, are things of the past. The Mexican War occurred a long time ago. No American historian of character attempts to justify that quarrel or even mention the episode with any word of approval. Shortly after this, New Mexico, Arizona and California were annexed. Since that time, as everybody knows, the Americans have acquired a tidy little territorial empire of their own, and administer the same according to an enlightened policy.

The territories and the principal islands and island groups under the sovereignty of the United States comprise the territory of Alaska, including all the Aleutian Islands east of latitude 187, the territory of Hawaii, including Ocean or Kure Island and Palmyra Island, Kingman Reef, Johnson or Cornwallis Island, and Sand Island; Midway Islands; Wake Island; Guam; the Philippine Islands, Howland, Baker, and Jarvis Islands, American Samoa including Tutuila, the Manua Islands, and all the islands of the Samoan group east of latitude 171, together with the Swains Island; Puerto Rico; the Virgin Islands of the United States, and Navassa Island.

The fact is that there is still a good deal of nonsense talked about imperialism by people who ought to know better. A timely article in The Atlantic Monthly has just been reminding the American people that the Pilgrim Fathers were one group out of many pioneer explorers and missionaries who went forth from their homeland to make settlements and to establish law and rule on foreign shores. The writer, an Englishman of letters, does not hesitate to declare that whatever may be said of imperialism, Clive personified the very qualities which have made America great. He states that when he is challenged upon the subject of imperialism he points to Jan Smuts of South Africa, a philosopher and an enlightened statesman who was once an implacable enemy of imperial Britain but who is now a pillar of Empire.

The present situation in India is not unlike that in the Philippine Islands. The people of India have been promised "Dominion status" as soon as they can compose their internal difficulties. The people of the Philippines have been promised "Commonwealth status" at a fixed date, namely, 1946. Commonwealth status at that date may prove impossible. The defeat of Japan must be achieved in the first place. After that, the experiment in self-government may begin, but it would be an act of folly to set up a native government without proper safeguards against foreign aggression either in India or in the Philippines.

MR. WALTER ADAMS

Another link with the colorful days of the pelagic sealing fleet, when fifty schooners lifted their masts and rigging against the quiet sunsets over Victoria harbor, parted this week with the passing of Mr. Walter E. Adams, who for many years had been associated with his father in the ship chandlery firm of E. B. Marvin & Company, when Wharf Street had been the headquarters of the Pacific Northwest sealing industry. It was there that bronzed Indian hunters, weather-beaten sealers and veteran sailing skippers used to outfit for their seasonal return to sealing grounds in the Bering Sea, until the pursuit was ended by international agreement.

An outstanding athlete and noted oarsman with the J.B.A.A. in his youth, Mr. Adams never surrendered his love of the water. For many years he sailed the Truant, a trim yawl, in the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and Northwest regattas. He won the Lipton cup several times, and the Cowichan cup outright. He held almost every executive office in the yachting organization, including that of commodore, and life member. He was also on the executive of the Pacific International Yachting Association.

Mr. Adams was born in Victoria in 1877, and attended the original Boys Central School, going later to university in California. For most of his life his business and interests were here, and they were many and diversified. In later years, although his interest in yachting was maintained, he turned to archery and became an original member and secretary of the Archery Association. He had been in failing health for some time before his passing this week. He is survived by his widow, three sons in the armed services, two daughters, a brother, two sisters and eight grandchildren. The sincere sympathies of the community will be extended to those who are bereaved.

MR. WILLIAM LUNEY

The death of Mr. William A. Luney, well-known partner in the pioneering contracting firm of Luney Bros., Ltd., makes another gap in established construction circles of Victoria, and severs a connection which began fifty-eight years ago. At that time, in 1885, his father, the late Mr. William Luney, Snr., moved here from Toronto with the family, and engaged in contracting. The late Mr. William A. Luney, and a brother, Walter Luney, surviving, took over their father's business in 1905, and developed it into a position of prominence not only in Victoria but also throughout British Columbia.

The late Mr. William A. Luney was known as an indefatigable worker and a quiet, painstaking man. Lasting evidence of his labors are to be seen in many of the undertakings which the firm of Luney Bros. Ltd., handled. These included, among many others, the construction of the Crystal Garden, the Royal Bank, the Provincial Normal School at Victoria, additions to the Jubilee Hospital, and some ten city schools. Popular with his colleagues and workers alike, the late Mr. Luney was one of the most experienced builders on the Pacific Coast, and his advice was sought at every turn.

A member of the Kiwanis Club, the Metropolitan United Church and other organizations, Mr. Luney played an active part in community enterprise. Though he refrained from public office, he was prominent in the social and community life of the city, and a valued member of the organizations to which he belonged. He is survived by his widow, five sons, two brothers, three sisters, and a number of grandchildren, to whom will go out the sincere condolences of the community in which his life played so large and so active a part.

What is to become of the home-maker who does not want to make five pounds of other jam in September and five in August, but would rather put all her sugar into strawberry jam now? Must she settle for plums and blackberries later in the year, when the family is asking for strawberry jam?

Ottawa hears that, because of omissions in the King's birthday list of honors and decorations, there is to be a new Canadian list issued on Dominion Day. It was inclusions, not omissions, that led to adverse comment on the Canadian list.

FROM: AT THE WARS

O yellow-hammer, once I heard
Thy yaffle when no other bird
Could to my sunk heart comfort bring,
But now I could not have thee sing
So sharp thy note is with the pain
Of England I may not see again!
Yet sing thy song; there answereth
Deep in me a voice which saith:
"The gorse upon the twilit down,
The English loam so sunset brown,
The bowed pines and the sheepbells' clamor,
The wet, lit lane and the yellow-hammer,
The orchard and the chaffinch song
Only to the Brave belong.
And he shall lose their joy for aye
If their price he cannot pay.
Who shall find them dearer far
Enriched by blood after long war."

—Robert Nichols.

Let the Germans remember that Russia, however pitiable her present condition, is and remains a Great Power, and that the present Slav Giant, now blind and turning the mill at Gaza, may yet make the whole proud structure of German Imperialism topple down in ruin and confusion.—Field-Marshal Smuts (May 4, 1918).

In this broad earth of ours,
Amid the measureless grossness and the slag,
Enclosed and safe within its central heart,
Nestles the seed perfection.

—Walt Whitman.

He felt even, as happens usually to those who endure great hardships, that the exertion necessary to subdue them is in itself a kind of elevating triumph. —Scott: "The Pirate."

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

At the back of my mind, reserved for study at some later time, there has long been a lively interest in glaciers. Not, indeed, in the glacial winds that can turn May nights into November, but in the slow march of icefields away from the foregrounds they have occupied for a very long period of years. For here, in theory and in fact, the pristine [illegible] back again, at least as it stood after the advance of the last ice age. Most glaciers, we are told, are receding; some at the modest pace of an inch or two each year, others virtually at a gallop of eight feet or more. Not long ago this action opened up a new port on the Pacific Coast, the ice passing back from the margin of the sea and exposing fresh land. For years I have wanted to get there, just to sit down and look at land upon which no human foot had trod.

* * *

Oh, in museums they will show you little bits of petrified this and fossilized that, but that is not all that I mean. Here is a piece of the earth upon which no stardust has fallen in uncounted years; ground that has been without night or day, without Spring, Summer Autumn or Winter since before the memory of man himself. What is it like? What were its nights and its days in the long, long ago? What came with Spring and the rotating seasons? What, then, were the seas, continents, and above all, the air ocean of the world? There are, of course, partial answers. From small scraps of evidence, including petrified trees and fossils, much has been conjectured. More has been assumed perhaps, than ever existed in fact. But something is quite lacking, and that is the feel and the atmosphere of those times. It is gone, perhaps forever.

* * *

I have climbed a number of glaciers, always knowing that I was leaving the thing that I wanted to look at most, the covered ground itself. They are vast and disordered piles spread in the midst of desolation. Such a wealth of stone and other rubble covers their feet, and so dirty is the ice there that one can usually see nothing whatever at the margin where the ice is pressing back from the land. It is difficult to realize that the glaciers themselves are like scattered raindrops after a shower, in comparison with the great icefields that once covered the whole of the terrain in the same regions. For those were the days when polar caps at the twin ends of the plant spread far from the poles. Underneath, buried under countless of millions of tons of ice and rock, is old ground, yet ground which to our eyes would be very new indeed.

* * *

What would the painter, the geologist, the historian not give for one day of it, to stand on that ground before the ice came? It is, of course, impossible. There is no going back over that road again, however the future way may lie. Yet imagination can almost do it. Imagination, with plenty of study and the right stimulus, could make a fair attempt at bringing those days to life again. We might not, however, like them. We might not be prepared for the upheavals and terror of those times, little as we grow accustomed to those of our own day and age. It is best, perhaps, just to sit at the foot of a glacier and leave the ice to its slow and unremitting march through the ages. Eight feet or more a year, a weight beyond human conception removes itself from land that once was, and which will one day be again. Without warning it brings us an open-water port in the wilderness. We read of it casually in the newspaper and say: "H'm, glaciers!" A curious creature, man.

Eight whales for canning were delivered at the plant in one day, and none of them had been killed more than six hours previous to being brought in. Another record that has been set is the number of whales captured at this stage of the season, Mr. Ruck stating that no less than seventy-five have been taken up to the present, this being nearly double the number brought up at this time last year.

Pays Warm Tribute To Loyal Ulster

The following is the text of a letter sent by Mr. Churchill to Mr. Andrews on the occasion of the latter relinquishing the office of Prime Minister of Northern Ireland:

"My Dear Mr. Andrews—I am indeed sorry that the ties which have been so warmly established between us in our public work should have to be broken.

"After your long services to Northern Ireand as Minister of Labor and as Minister of Finance you became Prime Minister in December, 1940. [illegible] hour. We were alone, and had to face single-handed the full fury of the German attack raining down death and destruction on our cities and, still more deadly, seeking to strangle our life by cutting off the entry to our ports of the ships which brought us our food and the weapons we so sorely needed.

"Only one great channel of entry remained open. That channel remained open because loyal Ulster gave us the full use of the Northern Irish ports and waters and thus ensured the free working of the Clyde and the Mersey.

"Bu for he loyalty of Northern Ireland and its devotion to what has now become the cause of thirty government or nations we should have been confronted with slavery and death, and the light which now shines so strongly throughout the world would have been quenched.

"To you fell the honor of being at the head of the Government of Northern Ireland not only during the supreme crisis, but throughout the two and a half years which have led us steadily forward to safety and final deliverance.

"I have always found you a faithful and helpful colleague and comrade and a man who had no thought but to do his duty.

"During your Priemership the bonds of affection between Great Britain and the people of Northern Ireland have been tempered by fire and are now, I firmly believe, unbreakable.

"You carry with you in your retirement the regard and respect of all who have worked with you, including in a grateful spirit, yours very sincerely, Winston S. Churchill."

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

NAPOLEON'S LETTERS

THAT EARTHWORM MYTH

Sir,—I was surprised to see that Ripley, in his "Believe It or Not" cartoon, states that the earthworm is the most useful animal. Is it not time that modern scientists should put an end to that idea of the earthworm being essential to our existence?

It is an established fact that these worms live on decaying vegetable matter and thrive only where the land is already fertile; also that there are many spots on the earth where the soil is capable of producing a rich vegetation and from which worms are completely absent. Therefore the absurdity of that earthworm myth should be exposed.

DOGS AND POULTRY

Sir,—There has been much said about dogs pro and con of late, now I would like to state my experiences with same.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning I was awakened by the most pitiful screeching I have ever heard. Upon investigating I saw two large dogs in the act of killing our hens. When discovered, they knocked down the fence and escaped leaving the run littered with feathers and dead chickens. This undoubtedly proves that it is dogs that killed those hens lost by another poultry owner of a little while back. There will be more nights like this as long as kill-crazy dogs are allowed to roam loose.

I am not a dog hater. I had a dog that I loved very much but had him destroyed when he became a public nuisance and would not stay at home. It is the duty of others to keep their dogs at home, and failing this, do as I did.

As a result of this unnecessary slaughter I am selling the rest of my chickens. I expect a return visit of these killers and I will be ready for them.

So a warning to you dog lovers. The next time I see another pair of husky dogs resembling the aforementioned, I shall "shoot first and argue later."

MARKETING LEGISLATION

Sir,—Is it not time that those engaged in lesser essential callings quit snapping and snarling at the farmers and their marketing organization. Some months ago a local auctioneer burst into print as to charges supposedly made by the Marketing Board on a certain shipment of potatoes. The figures given were almost wholly incorrect and as a matter of fact, at the time this letter appeared in the press, the owner of the potatoes had not received settlement for them. The said auctioneer must surely have found out later that he was all haywire in his statement but did he write and apologize? No, even when the owner of the potatoes expressed himself as satisfied with the settlement he received, did our worthy auctioneer chase to the newspapers with the information? No. Since then editorials and letters have appeared in the Vancouver and Victoria papers forever howling about our Marketing Board, and I for one am getting pretty well "fed up" with their rantings.

In the Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island and in the Pemberton and Cariboo districts there are better than 1,500 farmers engaged in growing vegetables for commercial purposes, the vast majority of whom voted for and brought into being the Marketing Board. It is our board—not the Government's. We have as much right to legislation which places us in a position to control the "scabs" as the doctors, lawyers, school teachers, railwaymen, boilermakers and all other organized labor. The principle involved in the marketing legislation is exactly the same principle as is involved in the Minimum Wage Act. What we get for our vegetables less our expenses, is our wage, yet we don't hear of editors and others yapping and squawking about the Minimum Wage Act.

Of all occupational groups in the country none has done a better job than the farmers. Deprived of 400,000 of our young men who have gone into the armed forces and other industries, we have actually increased production in almost every line and all the thanks we get are attempts to wreck the only marketing legislation that has been worth a hoot to us and a price ceiling policy based on the insane idea that the people of Canada would rather have bonds than butter. Well, here is hoping that the "wise guys" don't wake up too late. Mother Nature has been pretty good to us these last three years. I don't like to think of what will happen if she turns on us, but then it will always be handy to blame the Marketing Board.

PRONUNCIATION

Sir,—Much of the subject matter of your recent editorial on "Pronunciation," and Mrs. Ord's interesting letter, had practical exemplification today at Ottawa. Three speakers, Premier Mackenzie King, the Speaker of the House of Commons and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, addressed the members of the House and Senate in that order. All spoke faultless English, but with decided differences in delivery.

In his well-known, somewhat gruff tones, the Premier spoke the English to be heard throughout much of Canada and the United States, while the Speaker spoke clearly but with, I should say, distinctly Scottish intonation.

Madame Chiang's musical voice and carefully cultivated tones were, to my mind, slightly marred, from the point of euphony, by the alphabetical pronunciation of the "a" as used by most public speakers in the United States.

It may be through the fact that we have been accustomed to hear this pronunciation used only to impart particular emphasis or clarity that it appears to be meticulous and its constant repetition seems to strike a jarring note.

I thoroughly agree that the full beauty of the English language may only be demonstrated by a speaker with a cultivated and well-modulated voice, but, only too often, people are prone to think that, if a pleasing sound effect be achieved, the result must be good English. That this is not so must readily be realized by anyone listening to some of the B.B.C. broadcasts, where, only too frequently, cultivated accents and melodious voices combine in speaking very bad English. That these programmes have been spoken of as "Ehpah Wopah broadcasts" in allusion to some of the more persistent mispronunications of individual broadcasters is a justifiable if somewhat unkind criticism.

However musical and cultivated the voice may be, it hardly excuses the almost complete elimination of the letter "r" from words in which the best authorities say it should be, and its forcible insertion in words constantly heard such as "Tunisyer," "Rusher," "Indyer," "Canader," "Afriker," and even, alas, "Victori-er."

In many years' study of the subject, I have never been able to understand why a well-known form of speech is spoken of as the "Oxford accent," instead of the "Oxford dialect." It is true that most dialects of English have acquired their outstanding characteristics through legitimate considerations of environment and a thousand and one influences, etymological and historical, while the "Oxford" dialect is a product of comparatively recent times, consisting, principally, of carefully cultivated mispronunciations and mannerisms, which, apparently, had its origin in a desire to accentuate the rampant snobbery and class distinctions of Victorian times.

As Mrs. Ord states, this dialect may sound pleasing if spoken in modulated tones where it is the result of the speaker's environment, but this does not make the English spoken correct. Where it is spoken in the loud and aggressive tones sometimes heard, it may readily be attributed to the exhibitionist mentality of the speaker.

It is to be hoped that among the many changes effected by war, our educational authorities may give more attention to the perpetuation of the English language, written and spoken, in all the purity and beauty of which it is naturally possessed.

MEAT RATIONING

Sir,—The policy of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to prevent inflation and at the same time to arrange a fair distribution of foodstuffs is highly commendable, but the present method of trying to carry out this policy leaves much to be desired. The board has doubtless been working on a system of "trial and error." Now the error has developed they should take immediate remedial measures.

We would like to bring to the attention of your readers and the public generally, the situation as it now appears to us.

Farmers have been urged to increase production of essential foodstuffs, such as beef, lamb, pork, etc., and in many cases have done so, only to find that the restrictions placed on their slaughterings make it very difficult, if not impracticable, to dispose of their stock.

The meat retailer finds that the coupon quantity value of some of the better cuts is higher than that of some of the inferior cuts, with the result that the latter are not readily saleable, and these inferior cuts are piling up on him with every prospect of serious loss. In order to meet his overhead and maintain a fair standard of living, he can only offer to farmers a reduced price for their product—thus again making the farmer the "goat."

The housewife, for her part, is entitled to get the best and most economical meat ration for her coupon.

Everyone realizes that under war conditions restrictions are necessary. These restrictions should be imposed in such a manner as would encourage the production and disposal of available stock, especially of inferior cuts of meat, without throwing an extra burden on the farmer and retailer.

Owing to there being no public abatoir or stockyard here, Vancouver Island has been declared a "de-[illegible] the present quantity value of coupons it is likely to become an area with a surplus of undisposable inferior cuts of meat, or, in other words, a "deficiency" disposal area.

A united strong protest from both consumer, retailer and farmer, would doubtless induce the food administrator to take such steps as would alleviate the very serious situation that has arisen.

According to Pierre van Paassen in Look, Hitler wants Mussolini out of the war. "Italy has lost her military usefulness. She no longer represents a bridgehead to Britain's colonial empire," says the famous correspondent. "Driven from her bases and outposts in Libya, Eritrea and Ethiopia, Italy is now the glass jaw of Europe. Hitler underestimated Italy's military strength, just as he underestimated the striking power of Soviet Russia and the United States. Taken in by Mussolini's bombastic balcony speeches and military parades, Hitler assigned to the Italians a major task in the conquest of the world. Whether Germany wins or loses, Mussolini has lost the war. Italians are yearning for peace. Italy's breakaway from the war would lead in short order to the falling of Yugoslavia, Greece, Bulgaria and possibly Roumania. Hitler would be delighted with an immediate negotiated peace with Italy because it would probably be the forerunner of a negotiated peace for Germany." ... Vice-Marshal Jones, chief of the British Air Staff in Australia, was recently quoted as having stated: "If the R.A.F. and the United States Army Air Force can increase, or even sustain their present heavy attacks on Germany and Italy, the enemy's air power may collapse, and land operations, except for the purposes of occupation, may be unnecessary." ... The Pacific Coast Maritime Board of War Shipping Administration plans a drive to recruit longshoremen for winch and lift truck operations at United States ports. There is a shortage of men to handle ships carrying cargoes to and from the coast. ... From a Pan-American coffee bureau advertisement: "You cannot stretch coffee any more than you can stretch sugar with sand. It is just unthinkable to try to stretch coffee with adulterants. No combination with an adulterant even comes close to pure, delicious, energizing coffee. You merely ruin the flavor, lessen the goodness and waste the precious coffee so used."

VACCINES DEVELOPED

CHICAGO, June 17 (AP).—Vaccines which may protect human beings against two types of epidemic encephalitis, sometimes called sleeping sickness, have been developed, The Journal of the American Medical Association reported today.

NEWSPRINT CUT EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP).—A 5 per cent cut in newsprint appeared possible today. The United States War Production Board's newspaper industry advisory committee was called to a meeting here, at which it was expected such a reduction in the paper used by the country's newspapers—perhaps effective July 1—would be considered.

According to Culbertson

Very often a declarer will rack his brain in an attempt to decide between two fairly attractive lines of play, and overlook entirely a third line which is by all odds the most likely to succeed. For example:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K 7
♥ A K 9 6
♦ K 8 4 2
♣ A 5 3

WEST
♠ J 10 9 8
♥ Q 8 7 5
♣ K 10 7 6 4

EAST
♠ Q 5 4 3 2
♥ 10 3 2
♦ J 7 5
♣ Q 8

SOUTH
♠ A 6
♥ J 4
♦ A Q 10 9 6 3
♣ J 9 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the spade jack, and, before playing from either hand, declarer properly tried to chart a complete course. The first plan that appealed to him was to lead a low heart from dummy toward his jack, in the hope of finding the queen on his right. This would simplify matters, because if the queen won, declarer later would cash the jack and then be able to discard two clubs an dummy's ace and king.

Before launching this attack, however, declarer naturally decided to draw trumps. Winning with the spade ace, he laid down the trump ace. East's failure to follow suit, although immaterial in itself, made declarer revise his over-all plan. Now the mere fact that West was void of diamonds was some indication, however slight, that he was long in hearts, and declarer decided that he would not risk everything on East's holding the heart queen. He hit upon another plan. He drew just three rounds of trumps, cashed the A-K of hearts and ruffed a heart, then returned to the spade king and ruffed the last heart. (When the queen appeared from West, he was happy that he had not tried the first plan.) Now with spades and hearts stripped from both hands, declarer led a low club to the ace. At this point he was within an eyelash of victory. He intended, of course, to play another club and if East was caught with a blank honor, he would have to return a spade, affording declarer a ruff and a discard. East, however, was not to be trapped; he deliberately played the club queen on dummy's ace. Now declarer was helpless; he had to lose two club tricks to West's K-10.

The winning line of play was to run five rounds of trumps and cash the two spades, keeping four hearts and two clubs, in dummy. West would have to hold all his hearts to prevent dummy's suit from being ruffed out, and this, of course, would reduce him to the K-10 of clubs. Now declarer would only have to play two rounds of clubs and the fall of East's queen and West's king on the same trick would be decisive.

MARINE and TRANSPORTATION

Victoria Airmen Take Part In Large Convoy to Russia

Flight Lieut. Jack Bellis Pilot of One Aircraft—Sgt. Ralph Shepherd Air Gunner on Another

"NOT a move they made was unnecessary. Everything they did was carried out with the utmost precision," said Flight Lieut. J. D. M. Patton, of Islington, Ont., pilot in an R.C.A.F. flying boat squadron, in commenting on the manner in which Russian ground crews handled their aircraft when three Canadian crews visited the Murmansk-Archangel area in connection with convoy work through Arctic waters. Patton, now a flying boat captain himself, flew as second pilot in the aircraft of Flight Lieut. Jack Bellis, of Victoria, B.C. Flight Lieut. Leonard W. C. Limpert, of Halifax, N.S., then a warrant officer, and Captain Nick Honey, of the South African Air Force, captained the other aircraft which were detached from the R.C.A.F. flying boat squadron, commanded by Wing Commander L. W. Skey, D.F.C., of Toronto, for the special convoy escort work.

"We had heard in advance of the Russian way of handling seaplanes, and were naturally very much interested in seeing how they carried out their activities, and also refuelling, which is a difficult job with such large aircraft," continued Patton. "On one occasion we timed the beaching operation. It took a mere eight minutes from the time the engines were cut, along the side of the slip, until the aircraft was safely anchored high and dry on the tarmac. The whole job was carried out by not more than half a dozen men."

RUSSIANS ARE NOT FOOLING

"You get the idea that the Russians are going flat out all the time, and that there's no fooling," said Flying Officer J. A. Irvine, West Calgary, who has been Limpert's navigator since the formation of the squadron. Sgt. H. B. Currie, of Montreal, and Sgt. R. N. Dewar, Creston, B.C., were wireless operator-air gunners in Limpert's crew, while L.A.C. Jim Watson, of Edmonton, when not occupied with rigger's duties during flight, was a highly important figure in the aircraft's galley, keeping the crew well nourished en route.

"There seems nothing but military life in the north of Russia," went on Irvine. "The girls do guard duty, just as the men. They wear high boots and skirts, and blouses like battle dress, greatcoats and Russian wedge caps. On one occasion I saw a woman corporal march off the guard.

"The Russians showered hospitality on us during our stay in their country and made us feel very much at home. Some of the boys tried their hand at dancing and got along very well. They dance much as we do. Their entertainments were of very high order, too. Conversation was carried on through the medium of an R.A.F. interpreter, and also with the aid of a small Russian-English dictionary. Some of the boys made a rather futile effort to pick up a smattering of Russian, but our sojourn was too short to permit progress. Most of the time we resorted to a rather amusing hand language set up between the two nationalities."

SERVED AS ESCORTS FOR LARGE CONVOYS

Object of the Canadian crews was to serve as escort for important and large convoys slipping "over the top" through hostile waters, to a Russian destination. The flying boats were on the lookout for German naval craft, U-boats, and had to run the risk of interception by land-based German fighters, which were well within their range.

"Once we saw a Dornier 18, a flying boat, about four miles away," said Limpert, "but it didn't follow us. They probably felt like no games. We had good cloud cover over our heads, just in case. That was about all we saw, except cloud and water—no surface craft, no subs. We were the first R.A.F. aircraft to reach our destination."

All along the lengthy route from the British Isles the Canadian skippers kept their big flying boats practically "on the deck." For the greater part of the way they were seldom fifty feet off the water, with low cloud of almost uniform, approximately 8,000 or 9,000 feet, thickness, over their heads.

Flying Officer Al Ormond, whose home is at Winnipeg, is an observer, while Flying Officer John E. Knox is navigator in Honey's crew. He comes from the same city. Pilot Ed. W. Beattie, of North Bay, and Sgt. Ralph Shepherd, Victoria, B.C., were wireless operator-air gunners in the same crew.

The Canadian aircrews found the food and living conditions very much "front line," but that was precisely what they expected in that part of the world under existing conditions.

"The main items of diet were fried potatoes, rice, pork, and 'chai,' tea brewed from herbs, and very sweet," said Patton. "It was augmented by generous portion of sour bread, goat's milk, butter and cheese. A good old hamburger wouldn't have looked at all out of place to us."

TOBACCO, CHOCOLATE PROVE EXPENSIVE

The high cost of living was very pronounced in regard to certain items in Archangel. Tobacco and chocolate proved scarce, and, consequently, very expensive. "As far as I could figure it out, cigarettes must have been worth about six dollars a package, chocolate bars about four. The R.C.A.F. crews weren't there long enough to feel the pinch. Much of the country they flew over reminded them of Northern Ontario. Cold had little effect on them.

The homeward passage was made with little incident, except when they neared the British Isles. Limpert made a good landing at his designated base despite the fact that the weather had practically closed down. Bellis was diverted farther south to a safe landing, but Honey ran into trouble, in an attempt to climb over "duff" weather. He was fortunate in being able to pull out of a spin, and force landed, without injury to members of the crew, although he was minus two ailerons, and the aircraft was otherwise undamaged.

Limpert's crew made a second trip to North Russia in conjunction with patrols and sweeps which were being carried out. Squadron Leader Hunter remaining there for some time afterwards to assist in directing operations.

"Did we like it? I should say so," said Limpert. "You should have seen the reaction when the boys heard they were going to Russia. Everybody would like to go back to give them a helping hand again."

Victorian Flew to Russia

Awaiting their water transport to take them to their Sunderland flying boat are F.O. J. D. B. Ulrichson, second pilot from Beaverton, Ont., and Flt. Lieut. Jack W. Bellis, Victoria, B.C., pilot and captain. Bellis flew to Russia with his R.C.A.F. crew to carry out Arctic convoy patrol in the Murmansk-Archangel area.

Gasoline Stocks In U.S. Nearing Critical Point

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP). — Gasoline stocks were reported by the Bureau of Mines today to be "rapidly approaching critical levels" everywhere in the United States, except the West Coast.

April and May, it said, recorded heavy dips into stored supplies.

The bureau added to indications that tighter restrictions on civilian motoring may be in prospect for the mid-continent area before Summer is out.

Have Plenty of Reserve Shipping

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—The Daily Telegraph said today: "The United Nations have enough reserve shipping to enable them to embark simultaneously on more than one amphibious operation."

The reduction in Atlantic losses has created a reservoir of shipping, the paper said, much of which is available for offensive plans. These plans, The Telegraph added, are for a number of operations and have been worked out over a considerable period in order to prevent delay when the time to strike comes.

Prohibited Area

SEATTLE, June 17 (AP).—United States Coast Guard headquarters yesterday announced that the area from Ediz Rock Light, bearing 360 degrees true for two and a half miles, thence 81 degrees true for approximately twelve miles to a point two miles bearing 360 degrees true from New Dungeness Light, thence south to New Dungeness Light, has been designated as a prohibited area from 7 a.m. June 19 through June 23. Any craft desiring to enter or leave Port Angeles Harbor from or to the west may do so by keeping within one-half mile of Ediz Hook Light.

There will be gunnery fire from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. daily until further notice in the Rainier Range area, Neds Rock area and from Port Angeles to Neah Bay and Grays Harbor.

Possibly 105 Nazi Planes Lost in Day

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP).—War Secretary Henry Stimson said today eighty-five, possibly 105, German fighter planes were destroyed by British and American flyers raiding Wilhelmshaven and Cuxhaven last Friday.

In those raids, he said, heavy damage was caused to enemy industrial areas and preliminary reports placed the Nazi air losses at fifty-four craft.

Stimson said capture of Pantelleria, Lampedusa and two other small Mediterranean islands cost "only about forty airmen and a few planes." He said "substantial numbers" of Axis prisoners were taken—at Pantelleria they totaled 11,135 and at Lampedusa "between 4,000 and 5,000."

Discussing Allied raids on Kiel and Bremen, he said "damage believed very heavy" was inflicted on the enemy, who lost sixty-five fighter planes.

OTTAWA, June 17 (CP).—R.C.A.F. headquarters late today announced award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to two Saskatchewan officers serving overseas — Flying Officer Leslie Cyril Gosling, of North Battleford, and Flying Officer Wilfred Lloyd Dobbin, of Kamsack.

The citation:

F.O. Gosling—"This officer has completed a very large number of sorties, including attacks on airfields, port installations and industrial targets. In air combat he has destroyed four enemy aircraft and damaged others. In one engagement he shot down two Junker 88's which were escorting two merchant vessels. This officer has displayed great skill and keenness setting a fine example."

F.O. Dobbin—"This officer has proved himself to be an outstanding captain of aircraft. He has completed bombing operations over Germany, Tobruk, Sicily and North Africa. Throughout all these missions he has displayed the utmost keenness to locate and bomb the target accurately.

"In March, 1943, whilst attacking Sfax, P.O. Dobbin's aircraft was severely damaged by anti-aircraft fire. Undeterred by this he continued and bombed the objective successfully. This officer's courage, determination and initiative on operations have been most commendable."

Edmonton May Get Another Big Airport

Paper Reports Plans For $10,000,000 Base

EDMONTON, June 17 (CP).—The Edmonton Journal said today it had learned that the go-ahead signal was expected shortly for construction of a $10,000,000 airport near Namao, seven miles north of here, to fill the wartime needs of the United States Government. The paper's source was not disclosed.

"Surveys were made some time ago and international negotiations for establishment of the airport have been extensive," The Journal said. "The project has been in the minds of Canadian and United States Government authorities for some time.

"Authorizations for the work is about to pass the Governments of both countries and the 'go-ahead' signal for construction to start is expected to be given shortly."

SPECULATE ON FINANCIAL ANGLE

The paper said some reports had said the United States would pay for the airport while others said that the Canadian Government would build the airport and own the site, but that supplementary buildings and equipment would be paid for by the United States.

"Surveys for construction of the airport were made by the Dominion Department of Transport after the outbreak of the war," The Journal said. "It was felt then that should Edmonton's airport become overcrowded, the Namao airport could be used as a supplementary field.

"Construction will mean that several farms in the area will have to be vacated . . .

"Construction of the new flying field will make Edmonton one of the best-equipped air centres in the world."

Mme. Chiang Is Intrigued by Eastern Canada

Takes a "Peek" At Mount Royal

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, June 17 (CP).—Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek came to Montreal tonight and found herself intrigued by the city, its people—and a mountain.

Mme. Chiang, en route back to the United States from her three-day visit to Ottawa, paused here briefly between trains, with intentions of spending the two-hour interval resting at uptown Windsor Hotel. That [illegible] Mount Royal, which rises majestically in the midst of the city and its suburbs.

Mme. Chiang made a brief appearance to crowds in Dominion Square, opposite the hotel, and it was while she stood there smiling and waving to the cheering throngs that the great, green mountain caught her eye.

As she stepped back from the window balcony—the same at which the King and Queen appeared during the 1939 Royal visit—Mme. Chiang expressed to members of her party her amazement at the size of the mountain and its proximity to the business district. She said she would like to get closer to take a "peek" at it.

Within a matter of minutes a long, black motor car whisked her up to Sherbrooke Street for a short drive along the base of the mountain before going to the station where she was greeted by other cheering throngs as she boarded a Washington-bound train.

SURPRISED AT SIZE OF MONTREAL

Persons who had been with Mme. Chiang in the hotel's royal suite, where she rested briefly after her arrival, said she was surprised at the size of this French-Canadian metropolis and the height of its towering skyscrapers. She had thought it smaller.

They said, too, that she had been both pleased and impressed with the spontaneous greeting she received from the several thousand well-wishers, including many members of Montreal's Chinese colony, in the square as she appeared on the balcony. One member of the party remarked that she had captured the hearts of the people of Montreal, and she smilingly replied:

"Well, they have taken mine."

Approximately twenty members of the press waited outside the royal suite in hope of interviewing China's first lady but, apparently wearied by her train trip, she declined. They caught a glimpse of her, dressed in black silk costume with red pipings, as she walked from her rooms to the balcony.

In her suite, Mme. Chiang met Dorothy Lee, youthful member of the city's Chinese community, who has been active in Chinese war relief work, and Senorita Josefina Riviere Torres, first woman volunteer in the Mexican army, who is visiting C.W.A.C. establishments.

Senorita Torres presented to Mme. Chiang a tiny silver replica of a "charro"—a Mexican hat—and received in return a message to the women of Mexico which expressed the hope that they and the women of China would "work together for a better postwar world." "The message, written in Mme. Chiang's own handwriting, was signed "Mei-Ling Soong Chiang."

With a guard of honor made up of members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps saluting her, Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek was greeted at Ottawa's Union Station by His Excellency the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of Canada, and H.R.H. Princess Alice, who, in the picture above, is standing just behind Mme. Chiang.

Mrs. N. Hodges Gives Address to Baptist Women

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.P.P., was the speaker at a guest luncheon given by the Women's Union of the First Baptist Church yesterday, speaking on "Today's Challenge to Women." The luncheon was held in the Sunday school room of the church and was attended by about forty-five guests. Mrs. M. Richardson presided and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Hodges urged the women to work together and use their franchise [illegible] She spoke strongly on behalf of the old age pensioners and the conditions under which they must live, saying that something must be done to improve their lot. Parents, too, must take the responsibility of training their children and not depend solely on the schools, she said, as that is the only way to solve the present problem of child delinquency. The men returning from overseas must have something constructive to come back to, she said, urging the women to support and study postwar plans.

Following the address Mrs. E. Robinson conducted the devotional period and a vocal solo was rendered by Mr. Arthur Jackman. The report of the recent convention held in Vancouver was given by Mrs. N. Phillips.

Mrs. R. McAdam was in charge of the delightful table decorations comprising bowls o. yellow roses and nepeta.

New Social Codes Urged By Finance Minister

TORONTO, June 17 (CP).—Finance Minister Ilsley today asked Canada's women—through the National Council of Women—to set two new social "codes":

1. Commit the people so thoroughly to the custom of spending less "that it would be regarded as a social error to buy anything unnecessary or non-essential."

2. Overcome the present tendency toward redemption of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates by setting a "fashion" that "this is not the thing to do, to lend your money to the Government today and take it back tomorrow."

"We need to establish a social attitude in Canada which looks askance at unnecessary spending," said Mr. Ilsley in a brief address to a National Council meeting here.

"If it has become fashionable to be thrifty in Canada, women have done much toward setting that fashion. I think they can do even more."

Canada has room for 35,000,000 people, Canon W. J. Judd, general social service secretary for the Church of England in Canada, said.

Canon Judd addressed the conference after Mr. Ilsley.

"We need more than our 11,000,000 people to meet the great overhead expenses of a country as large as ours," said Dr. Judd.

There were about 10,000,000 refugees in Europe, victims of religious and political persecution. In Lisbon alone there were always between 11,000 and 15,000 waiting to be rescued.

Recently returned from England, Dr. Judd discussed the British attitude towards immigration. There were 200,000 refugees in England, all self-supporting and all contributing to the war effort.

"The English people are deadly in earnest about the refugee question," he declared. "In spite of their own difficulties they're willing to take more of humanity's burden."

The English themselves regard British emigration to Canada favorably only if "Canada wants them enough to offer them social security."

I.O.D.E. Chapters

Arbutus Chapter

Arbutus Chapter, I.O.D.E. held a meeting recently with Mrs. P. Lomas, regent, in the chair. Seventeen members were present. Letter of thanks was received from Mr. Rukin for the sports day medal. A letter was also received from the Health Centre, regarding a drive for funds, and in regard to nutrition. Thanks from Miss June Howarth were received for a friendship spoon. Members will assist in the Red Cross jam making, with Mrs. P. Donaghue as convener. It was decided that no meetings would be held during the Summer months. Mrs. Bishop will, however, have supply of wool for those who wish to knit. Mrs. G. Lomas reported one layette completed, one spindle of wool and thirty-two yards of flannelette bought. Miss Murchie gave a report of the dental clinic, and the regent reported on the seamen's committee and the recent entertainment for visiting seamen. The annual birthday party was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Ford. Mrs. M. Lamb was nominated for membership, and Mrs. E. Koch (out-of-town member), was reinstated. One hundred pounds of wool have been collected for quilt batts. Mrs. J. Russell Robinson, civilian recruiting adviser for the C.W.A.C., addressed the members, stressing the real and earnest need for women in the forces, and urging members to become "war-conscious" of this effort. Mrs. H. Vater and Mrs. D. Mainwaring are in charge of the cenotaph.

Local Talent Heard In Fine Concert at Prince Robert House

A splendid evening's entertainment was put on for servicemen and friends by a volunteer concert party at Prince Robert House last night.

Miss Bonnie Ward, who sang very well, was leader and H. Ker was master of ceremonies. Featured were Mr. Kathleen Greene, mother of Richard Greene, the Hollywood actor; Lois Moore, the girl with the personality, and the "Rhythmettes," three photogenic girls with fine voices and good stage presence.

Paul Michelin, the well-known musician, furnished the accompaniments. Arnold Hornby and Marilyn Sehl performed acrobatics on roller skates. Joy Merriman and her wooden boy friend, "Torchy," amused the audience with a good ventriloquist act.

Pupils of the Florence Clough School of Dancing contributed some good professional dancing; Barbara Gordon put on some amusing comedy monologues; Elaine Basanta was heard in some familiar songs. Miss Pat Harrison was heard at the piano.

The "Rhythmettes," Dorothy Haines, Connie Holmes and Elma Carmichael, deserve to be better known, but it was Lois Moore's song and dance numbers that brought down the house.

A buffet lunch brought the evening to a close.

C. F. Gray, manager of Prince Robert House, and Mr. Gray attended with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. McQuoid, of Winnipeg. Mr. McQuoid is a past "old man" of the Cuttysark Club that originated in the Manitoba city.

Children's Aid Society Hears Many Reports

Mr. David McMillan presided at the meeting of the board of directors of the Children's Aid Society held recently. Mrs. T. Hartnell, reporting for the family department, gave the following general statistics: Eleven families where neglect of the children is present were referred to the society for investigation during the month of May, and fourteen unmarried mothers were referred for help in planning for themselves and their infants.

Considerable increase in neglect of children in Victoria was made. In 1941, from January 1 to May 31, 118 cases of neglect involving 184 children were reported. This year, during the same period, 241 cases involving 359 children have been referred. Concern was expressed over the increase in the number of married mothers who become illegitimately pregnant, which complicates the situation in the legitimate family. Wherever possible, responsibility for these children is pressed upon the natural parents and they are never lightly relieved of this.

Between January 1 and May 31 this year, the society has attended ninety-eight hearings at Juvenile Court on behalf of sixty children who have been charged. This number does not represent the total children appearing in courts as the society does not attend on some of the minor charges. At the request of the court, twenty-seven social histories were prepared which give a picture of the child's adjustment to his home and community life, and is of value to the court in determining what disposition of the charge will be in the best interests of the child concerned. The society has given foster home care to children who have appeared in court with satisfying results. The municipalities have all contributed to the cost of this work.

Fourteen applications for adoption were received during the month and sixty-three adoption homes are under supervision pending completion of the final adoption at the end of the probation period as stated in the Adoption Act.

Several cases have been brought to the attention of the society where both parents are working and adequate provision has not been made for the care of the children in the parents' absence. In some cases a real hardship is being worked on these children and serious neglect is resulting. The board has taken steps to bring this situation to the attention of the proper authorities.

Mrs. M. J. Haley reported on behalf of the child placing and supervision department. During May, three children were committed to the society by court order on the grounds that they had "no parent capable and willing to exercise proper parental control." Five other children were admitted to care as non-wards for temporary placement. In this way the society continues to be of service to the children of men in the forces who are in need of assistance in the father's absence. On May 31 there were 127 children in care in foster homes in addition to thirty-four overseas children who continue to do well under the capable guidance of their excellent foster parents. Supervision visits, totaling 240, were made by the staff workers during the month on behalf of these 161 children.

VITAMIN B COMPLEX AND WORK

We all wonder at times if this matter of the vitamins is not taking up too much time and attention in the press, on the radio and in our daily conversation. We know that at one time it was vitamin C that received all the publicity, then it was vitamin D, then A, and now vitamin B in its various forms.

What about vitamin B, the present king of the vitamins. Is vitamin B or B complex important in these days of hard mental and physical work?

An interesting experiment with vitamin B complex is reported in the Journal of Nutrition, Philadelphia by Drs. R. E. Johnson, R. C. Darling, W. H. Forbes, I. Brouha, E. Egana and A. Graybiel, Boston. These research workers put ten men at hard daily labor on a diet lacking in parts of the B complex, notably thiamine. During the first week of the experiment five of the men were given daily doses of thiamine; the other five were given what appeared to be the same tablet but which contained no thiamine. During the third week (one week was spent in preliminary observations with the men on a normal diet) of the experiment all of the men received daily doses of brewer's yeast, containing thiamine.

At the end of the second week all the men complained of tiring easily and they had lost much of their physical fitness; this loss of fitness and getting tired easily was greater in those not given the thiamine, most of whom had muscle and joint pains, poor appetite, and constipation. These symptoms were mild or absent in those receiving the thiamine. All these symptoms disappeared during the week that the brewer's yeast was taken.

The usual level of health or fitness was regained more rapidly and more completely by the men who had received thiamine during the first week.

The conclusion reached by these research workers is that when men are doing hard physical work, even for a few days, they require sufficient of the whole vitamin B complex, not thiamine (B1) alone, to maintain fitness. Brewer's yeast supplies the necessary B complex.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Music By Ernest Seitz

That "music is a language understood by everyone according to his perception" was the contention of Ernest Seitz, guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

Introduced by J. Beatty at the request of Chairman Frank Turley, Mr. Seitz, well-known musician, composer and pianist of note, also member of the staff of the Toronto [illegible] subject "Music and the Listener."

In a well-modulated voice, Mr. Seitz delivered a thoughtfully prepared address, interspersed with anecdote, in which he advised his audience to "use your ears when listening to music, as you use your eyes when looking at a beautiful painting—or, may I say, blonde—or when you read poetry or prose. It exercises your intellect, emotions and imagination."

Taking his listeners, as it were, behind the footlights, from the artist's point of view Mr. Seitz described what "the performer on the platform thinks" of the people in the audience. He commented on people "who love music and who say they know nothing about it". It's too bad," the speaker continued, "we have not many thousands more like that." He spoke of those "who seem to listen, but are unsympathetic. They seldom if ever hear the charm and beauty or emotional surge of music. They have a chip on their shoulders," he added and termed them "rather objectionable."

Those who yawn, cough, sneeze, tap with finger or foot, fidget and whisper were scored by the speaker, who pointed out the danger of professionals and others who "refuse to remain human. Who have forgotten they ever had to learn and expect as much from a student as from a famous orchestra." He condemned them as guilty of unfairness.

"Snobbish highbrows who have a few pet composers," Mr. Seitz feels, "are pests and menaces." Jealous listeners he also deplored, referring particularly to the professional world. "The more logical attitude is the ideal," he summed up, "intelligence with discrimination, individual taste without prejudice. Music is fundamentally a part of our culture, and enhances life," concluded Mr. Seitz.

The Rotary victory garden competition was brought before the members by Neil Lamoute, chairman of the victory garden committee, who stated the members' gardens will be visited by a responsible official at the end of the month, and urged members to keep their best produce for the Fall Fair, to be held in September. Rotarian Leslie B. Bing proudly produced excellent horticultural specimens, which, he assured fellow Rotarians, came from his home. These he brought to the meeting to back up his assertion that three weeks ago his family had been eating new potatoes from their garden, and strawberries from the home-grown patch. Badinage and friendly banter made this exhibit of potatoes "grown from our own seed" and a magnificent cucumber, grown in his greenhouse, a cheery feature of the meeting.

Rotary orchestra, under direction of A. Prescott, received praise from Mr. Seitz on its efficiency.

Visiting Rotarians included Alex Gardner, Seattle; Ernest Stinson, Vancouver; Anson Rutledge, Vancouver; William Church, Medicine Hat, and Alan Mackien, Seattle.

Junior League And Kinsmen Launch Drive

Sponsored jointly by the Kinsmen Club and the Solarium Junior League, a huge drive is to be launched immediately in behalf of Kinsmen charities and the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Committees representing the two organizations have met to draft and organize a campaign in which the capital prize is to be a brand new home in one of the city's choicest residential districts.

Both the Kinsmen and the Junior League ratified last night the proposals of their joint committee and each organization voted $1,000 toward a common fund of $2,000 with which to meet necessary preliminary expense of a project which is designed to embrace the whole of Vancouver Island.

While the Milk for Britain is the Kinsmen's principal war fund, the club's share of the proceeds of the new drive are to be distributed with due regard for other funds in which the Kinsmen are interested. The Solarium, however, is to be the sole beneficiary of the Junior League's portion, one-half of the entire proceeds.

Bill Dillabough, chairman of the Kinsmen House Committee, stated last night that plans for the new home had been approved, but that the site had not yet been definitely agreed upon. Since the campaign comes within the scope of the War Charities Act, it was virtually assured, he said, that priorities could be obtained here as in similar cases elsewhere in Canada. Art Poyntz and Jack Price, also of the Kinsmen House Committee, spoke of other phases of the plan, and Cece Alion, West Vancouver, and district governor of Kinsmen District No. 4, advised the club of methods used successfully on the Mainland by a group of three Kinsmen clubs.

Wholly apart from this project, Secretary Maurice O'Conner informed the club that the Kinsmen milk bottle campaign, conducted in co-operation with the South Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, had yielded to the Milk for Britain Fund within the past two weeks a total of $1,696.70, and that "an additional six or seven hundred dollars" might be expected from envelopes on which no returns have yet been made.

The Mart Kenny dance at the Empress Hotel contributed to Kinsmen charities a total of $758.77. This included $168.77 collected at the Navy Yard, where the orchestra played an afternoon engagement, and this contribution, Frank Fraser reported, included a $50 cheque from the servicemen's canteen.

Jack Price, reporting for the wood committee, advised that arrangements had been completed whereby a substantial amount of wood could be obtained for members.

Although last night was meant to be the last meeting until Fall, it was decided to hold at least one more session, and Friday, July 1, was agreed upon, Thursday being Dominion Day and a holiday.

NO. 160—EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1943

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

WONDER WHAT'S IN THE AIR?

Moving around the city and district yesterday were two well-built men, one much taller than the other. After being tipped off that they were in town yours truly started to do a little investigating for, after all, the pair happened to be Boxing Promoters Sid Beech and Jack Price, of Vancouver. I figured they weren't over here on a holiday and so I eventually cornered them in their room at the Dominion Hotel and fired a flock of questions at the couple from a neutral corner, but both were non-committal, except they admitted in a sort of a fashion that local fight fans are in for a big surprise in the very near future. From the conversation Victorians will be witnessing one of the best cards staged here for many a moon. However, everything is in the preliminary stage at the present moment; in other words, there is nothing for publication until the site and the fighters are definitely lined up. The Mainlanders left on last night's boat and will return later to make final plans for the programme. . . . They talked of the last Dubs-Wadsworth title fight in Vancouver and both were unanimous when coming to the conclusion that the sailor was poorly handled from his corner. "Dubs could have boxed the Hamilton fighter to a standstill if given the proper advice, bu' his manager gave him orders to go out from the opening bell and slug it out with Len. That was the biggest mistake he ever made in his life for Wadsworth was far too heavy and had a much longer reach than Dube," said Mr. Price, as I glanced up at him as I left his room.

ODDS AND ENDS

Scores in the lower divisions of the local softball league are ballooning higher each week. Some of the results remind us of basketball games played last Winter, and if they continue to go much higher, the teams will have to search around for score keepers, for they are making them dizzy now trying to keep track of the runs as they fly across the plates . . . The Army ball club commits eight errors and still wins the game with two runs to spare, and the sailors were the victims for the third straight time this season. It doesn't sound right, but that's the way it went. Jimmy Dumeah, one of the pitching sensations just a year ago, was given a five-run lead, but he failed to hold it as the soldiers cut loose in the sixth frame and ran around the paths like a flock of Count Fleets. The big bell in the press box tolled six times when the inning ended and the Warburton clan were out in front where they stayed to the finish . . . To settle a little baseball argument: Doug Peden, first sacker for the Army, played in the Western Association last season with the Hutchinson Club, a farm team of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Peden also led the league in three-baggers with nineteen to his credit . . . Remember when Bob Harmon, of Berkeley, and Bob Peacock, of Los Angeles, became United States clay court doubles tennis champions at Chicago without lifting a racquet? That was three years ago this week. Frankie Parker and Don McNeill, their opponents, withdrew from the final when they were delayed by a heavy rainfall, and was the tennis dukes ever mad at the pair. They threatened to do everything with them but kick them out of the country, but Parker and McNeill just stuck their fingers up to their noses and left the Windy City for another tournament engagement and the U.S.L.T.A. was left holding the bag.

IN THE MAIL BAG

Dear Joe: Just a line to let you know that I'm still alive and in the pink. I am in with a fine bunch of boys and, although I hated to leave the Scottish, I am very happy here. Lately the weather has been perfect, in fact, nearly everyone has a swell tan. We are playing quite a bit of baseball here in camp. The officers quite often play against the sergeants. As a matter of fact we played a game the other night and the sergeants won by a 7-5 score. Bob Malcolm, whom you doubtless know, is the dental sergeant here and was playing against us.

We also have Brud Matheson, who played basketball for Varsity and lacrosse for the Adanacs. Henry Williams is also here and, although he sprained his ankle, manages to get in the odd game. Saw Vic Painter a few times and he looks swell. I am always running into people from the home town and, believe me, it is nice to see a familiar face once in awhile. I have played some golf lately and imagine my surprise when I made a hole-in-one. Lieut. John Gates is back in the Holding Unit and I see him quite often. Give my regards to my old friend, Al Reynolds, to Sid Thomas and all the boys you meet as they drop into your office. Glad to hear Roy Haines is back home and safe. I tried to see him while here, but never got up there. He must have had quite an experience.

Sincerely yours,
Lieut. Ted Colgate,
Canadian Army Overseas.

Comment: Thanks for the letter, Ted, we are always glad to hear from the boys "over there." Better take that ball team of yours out for more training because the sergeants will always point fingers at you fellows and say: "We beat them once and will do it again, just to show that we can play ball." Tell Johnny that the boys were asking about him, and I hope his golf game has improved since the last time I played with him at Colwood along with Jimmy Simpson. Yes, Roy Haines, arrived home safely after being missing for three months, and he was the honored batter at the opening of the ball season. Pass along your regards to all the boys. We all hope to see you when this mess is cleared up, and Adolph, Tojo and Benito are put in their places for good.

Twenty-Three May Go in the Derby

English Race Classic to Be Run On Saturday—Oaks Set Friday

By ALLEN NICKELSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEWMARKET, England, June 17 (CP).—The greatest classic of them all—the world-famed Derby—will be run over Newmarket's green turf Saturday, and the only safe bet is that there will be plenty of perplexity, crowds and queues. It will be the most open Derby in years.

Never within the memory of race followers have so many outsiders been left in this classic at the acceptance stage. About twenty-three of Britain's best three-year-olds are expected to go to the post.

All available accommodation in the district surrounding this old market town was booked weeks ago. The Derby, of course, holds the main attraction, but another classic—the Oaks—will receive almost as much attention when it is run over the same course Friday. The Oaks, open to fillies, has thirteen entries.

Way In, owned by Lord Astor, is the favorite in the fourth wartime Derby. Aboard Way In will be Cliff Richards, one of Britain's outstanding riders and a brother of the champion jockey of British turfdom, Gordon Richards.

Gordon himself will be astride the temperamental Nasrullah, one of Aga Khan's three entries.

KINGSWAY IS SECOND CHOICE

Second choice to Way In at 13 to 2 is A. E. Saunders' Kingsway, winner of the Two Thousand Guineas last month, who will be ridden by Sam Wragg.

However, some tipsters, who as usual claim their knowledge comes right from the feed box, tout Pink Flower as the best bet. Bought from a farmer for eighteen guineas as an unbroken yearling, Pink Flower placed second in the Guineas.

The King, who hasn't an entry in either the Derby or the Oaks, won't be around to see the classic as he did last year. He is in North Africa with his troops, and there is no indication the Queen will be present.

Favorite to take the Oaks, at 9 to 4, is Tropical Sun, owned by Mrs. S. Macdonald-Buchanan, with Gordon Richards in the saddle. Lord Derby's Herringbone, winner of the One Thousand Guineas, is second choice at odds of 7 to 2.

The Derby prize is 2,000 sovereigns added, while the Oaks stake is 1,000 sovereigns added.

V.M.D. and Flyers in Spotlight

Senior Baseballers Will Play Tonight

Just half a game out of third place, Royal Canadian Air Force baseballers have visions of improving their position in the senior baseball pennant race this evening when they tangle with the champion V.M.D. club at Royal Athletic Park. Game time is 6:30 o'clock.

Shipbuilders and flyers are each booked for action this evening and tomorrow and the outcome of the two fixtures will have quite a bearing on the standings in the flag chase. V.M.D. will return to the Caledonia Avenue ball yard tomorrow evening to oppose the Eagles, while the airmen are slated to meet the climbing Army club in the matinee attraction of the regular Saturday double bill.

Bert Appleby, wrong-side hurler, will probably get the call for the mound chores against the V.M.D. this evening. The left-hander looked good in his debut last week and figures to give the champions, allergic to southpaw pitching, some trouble.

Jack Coughlin, former Prairie pitcher, looks about ready for the assignment against the flyers, while Laurel Harney, peppery backstop and club coach, will be back of the home plate.

Ian Lowe, V.M.D. shortstop, who has hit safely in every game, will be out to keep his hitting string intact and go into a tie with Gil Bruce, Navy outfielder, who has collected at least one base-knock in each of the eleven games played.

After knocking over the V.M.D. and Navy in successive games, the soldiers will return to Royal Athletic Park tomorrow afternoon to meet the flyers in the matinee fixture of the regular week-end double bill.

Nightcap attraction of the Saturday card will bring together the leaders and cellar occupants—V.M.D. and Eagles.

The afternoon fixture is billed for 2:30 o'clock, with the second contest slated for 6:30 o'clock.

Walk Gives Yanks Narrow Ball Win

AMERICAN LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP).—A walk with the bases loaded in the ninth inning gave New York Yankees the deciding run in a 9-8 victory over Washington Senators today and restored the American League champions' first-place margin to four games.

The sloppy struggle produced twenty-three hits, thirteen bases on balls and four errors and required two hours and thirty-six minutes to play.

Washington whipped across five runs in the third inning to take a temporary lead, but the Yankees, who got one in the third, battled back with five runs in the fifth when Nick Etten tripled for two of the tallies.

The Senators tied the score in their half of the fifth and Ellis Clary doubled for two runs to put them in front again in the seventh.

The Yanks filled the bases in the ninth. Bill Johnson promptly hit a long fly to bring in the tying run. Tommy Byrne batted for Bill Zuber and was intentionally passed to load the bases. And George Stirnweiss popped up, but Wynn walked Bud Metheny to force across the winning run.

Sox and A's Split

BOSTON, June 17 (AP).—Appearing as a pinch-hitter for the fourth time in the five-game series, Manager Joe Cronin belted out his second and third three-run homers today as his Red Sox split a doubleheader with Philadelphia Athletics. Cronin's first four-bagger of the day enabled the Sockers to win the opener, 5-4. The Athletics gained the nightcap by an 8-7 margin.

The Athletics had a 4-1 lead behind Russ Christopher in the seventh inning of the first game until, with Babe Barna and Skeeter Newsome on base, Cronin tied the score by driving into the left field screen. The Sockers made their winning run in the ninth when, with the bases filled and one out, Tony Lupien grounded out to drive in Relief Runner Eddie Lake.

The Athletics were coasting along on an 8-4 lead when Cronin batted out his second pinch-hit homer of the day against Don Black with Bobby Doerr and Skeeter Newsome on base in the eighth frame of the second game. Roger Wolff pitched the ninth for the Athletics and squelched the Red Sox' desperate closing rally.

CHICAGO, June 17 (AP).—Chicago White Sox won an overtime game from St. Louis Browns today, 4-3, when Shortstop Luke Appling doubled to send home two tying runs in the ninth and singled to score Don Kolloway from second with the winning marker in the thirteenth inning. Grant's first inning home run accounted for the other Sox run.

Indians Capture Pair

CLEVELAND, June 17 (AP).—Mike Rocco's fly scored Manager Lou Boudreau in the twelfth inning tonight to give Cleveland Indians a 6-5 triumph over Detroit's Tigers in the second game of a twilight-night nail double-header. The Tribesmen staged a ninth-inning uprising to win the opener 3-2.

Elongated Mike Naymick, the Indians' six-foot, eight-inch hurler, received credit for both victories. Big Mike relieved Jack Salveson in the first affair and pitched two hitless innings, then followed Jim Bagby to the mound in the tenth heat of the afterpiece and allowed only one base blow.

Punky Higgins' two-run homer in the seventh inning of the night contest put the Tigers ahead 5-4 but the Redskins knotted the count in the ninth. Manager Lou Boudreau led off the twelfth with a double and took third on a long fly by Roy Cullenbine.

Jeff Heath and Ken Keltner were purposely passed to fill the bases and then Rocco delivered a long fly that sent his boss sliding in with the big tally.

Boudreau's ninth-inning single produced the 3-2 decision in the twilight affair. Southpaw Hal Newhouser had a shutout until the final chapter when the Tribe notched all its runs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

ST. LOUIS, June 17 (AP).—Manager Billy Southworth, of St. Louis Cardinals, who picks the spots for Pitcher Howard Krist, chose a tough one today for the tall right-hander who was beaten 6-1 by Cincinnati Reds.

It was only the fifth defeat of Krist's major league career against twenty-nine victories. He came to the Cardinals in 1941 and has been remarkable relief pitcher, starting only occasionally. He has won three games this season.

The defeat was the Cardinals' second in a row at the hands of the Reds, marking the first time they had suffered two consecutive reverses in exactly a month. However, the loss meant nothing so far as their National League lead was concerned since Brooklyn Dodgers also were beaten.

GIANTS BEAT DODGERS

—NEW YORK, June 17 (AP).—New York Giants clubbed across five runs in the first inning today and went on to beat Brooklyn Dodgers 8-5 and sweep their three-game series.

It was the fourth consecutive defeat for the Dodgers and, while they lost no ground to St. Louis Cardinals, National League leaders, they fell within two games of the third-place Cincinnati Reds.

Navy Softballers Take Over Lead

Defeat Army, 4-2, to Move Out In Front—Shipbuilders Triumph

Last night's scores:
V.M.D. 2, R.C.A.F. 0.
Navy 4, Army 2.

Royal Canadian Navy softballers moved out in front in the senior "A" standings last night at Royal Athletic Park when they defeated the Army, 4-2, in the second and nightcap fixture of the regular double bill.

Earlier in the evening the Flyers passed up their chance of sharing the lead with the bluejackets when they dropped a 2-0 verdict to the Victoria Machinery Depot.

Glenn Richardson, hockey and softball star, was the hero in the Navy's victory over the soldiers. The sailor shortstop laced out a stinging homer in the final frame with two mates aboard for three of the four Navy runs. One of the hardest hit balls of the local "big apple" season, the drive carried the ball right to the Pembroke Street fence. Bluejackets added their fourth marker in the fifth inning.

Soldiers did all of their scoring in the opening frame, making two base hits good for a pair of tallies to finish one run back of the Navy in a first-inning offensive. Troops threatened a couple of times later, but were unable to add to their total.

Eggerston started on the hillock for the sailors and gave up three base knocks and the two soldier runs before giving way to Syd Stebbings, first-string pitcher, in the third frame. Troops got to the relief flinger for two safeties and one run.

Norm Martin went the route for the soldiers and was nicked for six base hits.

V.M.D. DEFEATS FLYERS, 2 TO 0

Manager Ed Ash's Victoria Machinery Depot softballers climbed right back on the winning van with a 2-0 victory over the Royal Canadian Air Force in the first game of the twin card.

Flyers, turning in one of their wobbliest exhibitions of the season, were also weak with the willow and only poked out two safeties, both in the fourth frame, from the offerings of Fred Billsborough, opposing hurler.

V.M.D. were held to four base hits by Harry Braverman, Flyers' ace pitcher, but miscues by the airmen allowed the shipbuilders to score their two markers.

Riverland May Be Destroyed: Heavily Insured

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP).—Trainer Moody Jolley said today that after examining Harold A. Clarke's badly-injured Riverland, three veterinarians decided to wait until tomorrow before giving their decision over whether to destroy the five-year-old.

Riverland, a $6,000 bargain who won nearly $100,000 in three years of racing, broke his cap in the Carter Handicap at Aqueduct last Saturday. He is insured for $40,000 and the insurance company has the final say as to his disposal.

"I'm fully convinced the horse will have to be destroyed," Jolley said.

R.A.F. and V.M.D. in 2-2 Draw

Deciding Fixture Set Next Tuesday

Knotting the score on a penalty four minutes before the final whistle, Royal Air Force footballers last night battled to a 2-2 stalemate with V.M.D. in the third game of the best-of-three series for the Solarium Trophy donated by Alderman John Worthington.

Outcome of the match, one of the most bitterly contested on the grassy surface of Macdonald Park, left the competition without a winner and forced a fourth and deciding game next Tuesday evening. Pat Mulcahy, Victoria commissioner, announced last night, that plans are being made to have a Mainland official handle the game next week.

Last night's match was a typical cup-tie affair all of the way, with rival squads handing out plenty of heavy, stiff checks and feeling running high at intervals. V.M.D. took the lead twice, and each time the Old Country lads, showing considerably more life than in their last game, knotted the score.

First forty-five minutes was scoreless, with little to choose between two well-balanced and well-matched soccer elevens. Shipbuilders had the wind at their backs, but with this advantage had no appreciable edge in the territorial play. Evans and Cockroft, opposing goalies, were each called upon to make good saves and performed brilliantly.

GEORGE PAYNE SCORES FOR THE CHAMPIONS

After Noel Morgan shot over the bar and Stevens rocked the crossbar with a terrific drive, George Payne, V.M.D. centre forward opened the scoring. The lanky pivot player broke fast and beat the Old Country goalie with a well-placed drive.

R.A.F. returned play to the opposite end of the field and Cox just missed with a beautiful shot from the left wing, and then at the other end Cecil Blakeburn shot wide of the uprights. Back came the Old Country lads and, following a corner, Stevens headed the ball into the V.M.D. net to tie the score at 1-1. Keeping up the pressure, the airmen gave the opposition plenty to worry about.

With the pressure finally relieved, the McColl footballers closed in on the R.A.F. goal and Cockroft was forced to move quickly to avert a score. End-to-end play followed for some minutes with each goal being subjected to dangerous attacks.

V.M.D. moved ahead, 2-1, late in the match when Alvin Parks registered with a first-timer. Witham, R.A.F., was lying on the grass hurt at the time.

Old Country lads came exceptionally close to scoring when Potter broke through, only to sky the leather over the framework. With the final minutes ticking away, R.A.F. were awarded a penalty when Hardwick was tripped. Cox took the spot kick and scored and the match ended in a 2-2 stalemate.

Danny Glancy refereed.

GRAPHIC GOLF

By BEST BALL

KEEP THE CLUBHEAD SQUARE AT IMPACT

Keeping the clubhead square to the line of flight is quite a problem to the average player. The start of the backswing is usually paved with the best intentions in the world, most players making an effort to take the club straight back for a short ways at least. The difficulty arises from the clash between their effort to keep the club aligned correctly and the mechanics of the stroke. A great number feel the manoeuvre makes their swing awkward and lacking in smoothness and quickly dispense with the alignment, in an effort to make the stroke conform to these details. Others, who lift the club with the right hand have little chance to see that the clubhead follows the straight-back pattern.

One way of overcoming this fault is to practice swinging in slow motion, pushing the club back with a straight left arm, low to the ground and directly back of the ball for a certain specified distance. On the downswing the clubhead is kept square to the ball for some distance after impact. Such a follow through is shown in the above illustration. Keeping the clubhead square in this manner, increases the margin for error for the actual impact point may be still slightly miscalculated and yet send the ball satisfactorily on its way. In addition to this benefit, such tactics induce a greater use of the left arm in taking the club back and bringing it down.

Galaxy of Stars In English Epic At the Dominion

The lives and loves and experiences of seven generations of an English family form the keynote of "Forever and a Day," the unusual all-star feature offering which presents the largest cast of film favorites yet to reach the screen in one picture.

In the picture which will open today at the Dominion Theatre, there is a total of seventy-eight stars and top featured players.

Covering the period from 1804 to the London blitz of 1940, the colorful story has as its principal setting a sturdy old house built by a fire-eating naval officer during the Napoleonic wars. The succeeding generations who live in the structure, their romances and their adventures, comprise the story basis of the film as presented in a series of connected episodes laid against exciting moments in English history.

YORK THEATRE George Barbier, veteran character actor, currently appearing in the York Theatre picture, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," with Bette Davis and Ann Sheridan, recently celebrated his fifty-fifth anniversary in show business. Over half a century ago George was hired by the Frost and Fanshaw Company to be their leading man.

RIO THEATRE During a part of his career before the public Roger Pryor, screen player, followed in the footsteps of his famous bandmaster-father, Arthur Pryor, since the son recently spent two years in touring the United States at the head of his own orchestra. Pryor is at the Rio Theatre in "Smart Alecks," the new Monogram picture which stars the East Side Kids, and presents "Slapsy" Maxie Rosenbloom and Gale Storm in featured roles.

CADET THEATRE In "Eagle Squadron," the film which opened yesterday at the Cadet Theatre, Producer Walter Wanger has notably achieved the screen's first authentic story of the great war both in the air and on the land. From the English fighting front comes this story of American fighter pilots who joined the Royal Air Force long before their own country's entrance into the war. Their swift Spitfires have written many a heroic chapter in the war of the clouds since then.

Amusements

On the Screen

Cadet—"Eagle Squadron," starring Robert Stack and Diana Barrymore.

Capitol—"The Moon Is Down," with Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Dorris Bowdon.

Oak Bay and Plaza—"Sarong Girl," starring Ann Corio and Johnny Davis.

Rio—The East Side Kids in "Smart Alecks."

York—"The Man Who Came to Dinner," starring Monty Wooley, Bette Davis and Ann Sheridan.

CAPITOL THEATRE One of the most difficult films Hollywood has ever undertaken, "The Moon Is Down," now showing at the Capitol Theatre, is the heart-stirring drama of an indomitable free people whose hopes and strength and spirit—even under the heel of the conqueror—can never be crushed. Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Dorris Bowdon head the cast.

ATLAS THEATRE M-G-M's "Random Harvest" has the perfect combination to make a memorable motion picture. The story is a filmization of the best-selling novel by James Hilton, who also authored "Lost Horizon" and "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." As its co-stars, it brings together for the first time, Ronald Coleman, who won high praise in "Lost Horizon," and Greer Garson, who rose to stardom in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." "Random Harvest" is currently showing at the Atlas Theatre.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES The East Side Kids "join up" with Uncle Sam in "Kid Dynamite," their new Monogram hit at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Leo Gorcey signs on as a sailor; Bobby Jordan becomes a soldier; and Toughie Huntz Hall sports a marine uniform in the picture's climax. Even their pretty leading lady, Pamela Blake, gets in the patriotic swing by joining one of the women's auxiliary forces.

Drill Team Ready To Save Saanich Strawberry Crop

Plans had been made through the Dominion - Provincial Employment Service, Lafayette Lake, but the girls stated they would be willing to help at other times, but it was felt that the idea could not be ready. Understanding the vagaries of the fruit and the possibility of all ripening suddenly and unexpectedly, however, the girls are prepared to work on the farms if and when required.

Capt. Foster said that the idea was one of the patriotic services performed by the girls which, it was felt, would assist in ensuring the annual Saanich Strawberry Week to be held here on Sunday. This event is sponsored by the Gorge Road Unit of the Chamber of Commerce and it also supports the drill team.

It was also announced yesterday that the team would take an appearance at National Day in Nanaimo on July 1. That day is one of patriotic fervor and the girls' drill team will be among the many organizations that will participate in the celebrations. Expenses will be borne by the committee in Nanaimo.

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER LIX

"Sit down a minute, Andy," Dina said, sitting down herself on the shady top step. "If you could know what's going on in this house since five this morning," Dina added laughing. Her hand was again safe where she had so often lingered to have it in the grip of his own big hand.

[illegible] how it is with me. What brings you here?"

"You."

"Nothing else?"

"I came back here because I can't live without you, Dina."

"It [illegible] hard going," she admitted in a trembling voice, with a [illegible] little laugh.

"But you're happy here? You're [illegible]," he said.

"Since you arrived," Dina amended it.

"You've been here since January, haven't you?"

"Right after you left."

"And you're divorced?"

"Well," Dina said frankly, "I don't know whether I am or not. I don't understand it at all. Andy was to get her divorce in March."

"She did," he put in.

"She did? Well, then I'll [illegible] [illegible] Rogers [illegible] Reno [illegible] she was so she was to go to New York and get clothes and then come back. Rogers [illegible] to go to Reno until early in May, but that would mean that we were divorced at least two weeks ago and I've not heard from him or from his attorney."

"Rogers never went to Reno," Andrew said. Her eyes widened as she brought her glance about to him surprisedly.

"Who said Rogers didn't go to Reno?" Dina asked.

"Vere."

"Vere? When'd you see Vere?" Dina asked, reddening.

"Yesterday. Rogers has gone away. When did you last hear from Rogers?"

"Why I—— it was March I think. Maybe earlier. No, March. I wrote him that I was happy here and [illegible] and Margaret [illegible] and everything all right. He answered and said he would let me know how things were going and if he had to see me about his plans. That was the last."

"He went to Honolulu."

"Aline [illegible] him there?"

"No, Vere says he left Honolulu before she returned from New York and from Honolulu he went to China."

"I'm completely bewildered," Dina said. "I don't understand any of it. Why shouldn't Rogers get a divorce? That was what he'd been working for for months! Was [illegible] he [illegible] know if he wasn't going to? I've been the [illegible]." Her face was very red and her tone distressed. "I was free, free to live on here in the little hole I've crawled into," she said, "and now I don't know what I am!"

"That's your side of it," Andy said. "I want to get started on mine. Remember the way we parted last Christmas and what I wrote you?"

"It is likely," Dina answered looking away, "that I should forget?"

"Do you know what I thought after I wrote you that?"

His eyes came around to him. "Of course I know."

"That you wanted to marry Vere."

[illegible]

"Because he told me so. Do you remember that Hal, your driver, took me to the airport that night and Vere went along?"

"Perfectly. He certainly couldn't have told you that [illegible]."

"But he did," Andrew said simply as she stopped, stammering.

"That wasn't what I was trying to tell you at all!" Dina exclaimed. "I was trying to tell you about Vere and me."

"What you were trying to tell me I perfectly well understood," Andy told her. "I said to you that I had told Aline to shut up when she mentioned it, but that didn't mean I didn't believe it. I knew right away that it was true. It explained everything. Rogers' attitude toward you and yours toward him, and the way he spoke of the baby. So when we talked that day in the hall I knew. But what I hadn't done, Andy went on, was connect Vere with it. So that night when we were going to the airport and he told me that he and you were going to be married, it was a thunderbolt. I told him that I imagined you didn't have any definite plans after [illegible] [illegible] there was a reason why [illegible] and he [illegible] be married, it was a matter of honor."

GEMINI

If June 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 [illegible] to 9:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

It [illegible] pays to exhibit the amiable side of your disposition today, for much more will be gained by your being thoroughly agreeable than disagreeable. Do not judge by appearances today, for they are apt [illegible] to [illegible]. It will be wise to bear in mind that the proof of the pudding is in the eating. In the acceptance of advice today be sure to differentiate between what is thoroughly practical and that which is purely theoretical. Married and engaged couples and those who are seriously in love had better realize that "Doubt is brother-devil to Despair," and it generally originates from the figments of an over-worked imagination.

If you are a woman and June 18 is your birthday you should have a good eye for details, and a decided talent for directing the activities of other people. A keen sense of touch and taste ought to be put to advantageous use. You must always be on the lookout for a wider sphere of activity with money-making potentialities, for if you permit yourself to settle down into a rut you may only achieve a mediocre degree of success. Through business management, news reporting, radio work, fiction writing, teaching, editing, [illegible], [illegible] acting, singing, music or [illegible] work [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] your place among the [illegible] men and women of this generation. If you are a man and June 18 is your birthday you should possess a [illegible] analytical brain, a great [illegible] amount of intuition and a sense of [illegible] [illegible] than to save money, and [illegible] that will be [illegible] is a characteristic that should [illegible] a [illegible]. MIRROR PICTURES

To make mirror pictures like this, focus carefully, have your subject stand close to the mirror, and use a small lens opening.

IN days gone by the work of [illegible] [illegible] "it's all done with mirrors." And maybe that was the case sometimes. But today it's the photographer rather than the magician who makes [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] excellence [illegible].

There are two popular ways of taking mirror pictures. How is it done? Well, it is really very easy, but there's one thing you must watch and that's proper focusing. Solve that problem, and you'll find that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] focusing distance—if you want to get the image sharp and clear—is the total of the distance from the [illegible] [illegible] the subject. That's one way.

If it is desired to include the subject itself in the picture as well as the reflected image, and have both [illegible] [illegible] the greater the depth of field and the sharper will be both images. Naturally, the nearer the subject is to the mirror the less is required in the matter of "depth."

Former Vancouver Soldier Is Getting Back on Nazi Sailor

Injury by Prisoner Put Him Out of War But He Invents Important Gadget for Shipyard

INVENTOR of a new type punch-press which increases the ordinary speed of production of brass washers needed in manufacturing the handles of ships' water-tight doors by more than twenty times, Harold Ker, of Vancouver, is getting his own back on a Nazi sailor who knocked him down during an attempted escape from the Canadian military escort in Vancouver two years ago.

[illegible] man sailor that he was discharged from the army, but he is now back in the war as a machinist fitter in a West Coast shipyard building frigates for the Royal Canadian Navy.

So important is Ker's invention that the management of this firm recently gave him a substantial cash bonus and a glowing letter of appreciation.

The cheerful forty-six year old ex-soldier, a veteran of two wars, can turn out 500 washers in a morning with his gadget, and often manufactures more than 1,000 a day.

NAZI WAS ONE FROM CARGO SHIP

The Nazi whose furious blow altered the course of Ker's life was a member of the crew of a German cargo ship captured by a Canadian auxiliary cruiser in Central American waters in the Spring of 1941. The crew men were taken to Vancouver en route to an internment camp. Ker, a mechanical instructor in the army, was on duty at the time, escorting the captives into an army establishment.

"One of the prisoners was a huge chap, about six feet two and built in proportion," Ker explained. "I was standing in front of one exit door. Suddenly the big fellow broke away from the group in the centre of the room. He swung all the way from the floor with his right fist and slugged me across the side of my face. The blow knocked me cold head bounced against the pillar on the way down and then smacked on the concrete floor."

WAS UNCONSCIOUS TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Ker was unconscious for twenty-four hours, but within thirty seconds after the blow which felled him, the German had been recaptured by others who overpowered him as he sprinted from the building.

The washers the machinist now turns out so rapidly were manufactured formerly on a drill-press. The air-tight doors into which the washers fit are among the most vital parts of a Canadian warship. They spell the difference between the ship sinking and staying afloat after an enemy shell, mine or a torpedo allows water to flood into one or more of the sealed off sections of the vessel.

Court Declares Automobile Not Public Place

KAMLOOPS, June 17 (CP).—Argument that an automobile is not a public place within the meaning of liquor regulations if the public does not have access to it was advanced successfully in police court here in the case of a man arrested while drinking in his parked car.

Magistrate Arthur Rankin dismissed the charge, ruling that the public had not had access to the vehicle and remarking: "It is not a question of where a truck or car stands that makes such a conveyance a public place but the manner in which it is legally controlled."

In Alberta, where liquor laws are similar to British Columbia's in respect to it being an offence to drink in a public place, the Supreme Court made a similar ruling some time ago.

Price Ceilings On Salmon Set

ASTORIA, Ore., June 17 (AP).—Price ceilings on fresh Columbia River salmon have been set by the Office of Price Administration, Thomas Sandos, of the Columbia River Packers' Association, said he was informed yesterday.

A telegram from Charles W. Triggs, fish section chief of the Office of Price Administration's food division, Sandos said, quoted the following per pound prices:

Chinooks: May 1 to August 1, 17c; August 1 to August 10, 15c; August 10 to August 26, 13½c. Bluejackets: 16c. Steelhead: June 10 to August 26, 10½c.

Regulations on the salmon prices will be announced in a few days, Triggs informed Sandos.

Sandos said the ceilings were in line with present prices except for Bluejackets, which have been drawing 17c from packers.

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP). — Sqdn. Ldr. Leroy "Ace" Campbell, D.F.C., twenty-four, R.C.A.F., is "missing believed killed" after air operations over Germany, his mother, Mrs. C. N. McCarkner, was advised today.

Withdraw U-Boats

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—An informed British observer said today that Germany's submarines were being so badly mauled in the Atlantic that they were being withdrawn to seas where they can get a measure of air protection.

There, he said, they likely will prove to be troublesome.

The observer, who would not permit the use of his name, said great success against submarines in the past weeks indicated that the U-boats had "been measured but not beaten."

Want to Know Where Chaplin Got Gasoline

LOS ANGELES, June 17 (AP).—The Office of Price Administration is taking an interest in Charlie Chaplin's marriage, it disclosed today, but not in its romantic aspects.

Samuel L. Leask, Jr., Southern California O.P.A. administrator, announced his operatives are trying to determine where Charlie got the gasoline for his trip to Santa Barbara yesterday to marry Oona O'Neill, daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neill.

Leask said also he is interested in unverified reports that at one time Chaplin's car sped eighty miles an hour as the actor eluded newsmen. He is trying to check the ownership of the car, but admitted he is handicapped because no one hereabouts seems to know where Chaplin and his bride are honeymooning.

"The whole trip may have been entirely legal," Leask commented. "It probably was; but we want to know."

"A-CUTE COMPETITION UP-ISLAND"

FELLOW UP IN DUNCAN engaged in a similar unequal struggle, must have a "GOOD" line ... he has convinced one of our customers a bedroom suite in his store is "cuter" than one we have, despite the fact ours has a real PLATE tilt-type mirror ... walnut matched veneers, fancy red drawer pulls, dove tail construction, and what not in the way of a good finish ... price doesn't enter this competition; she quite frankly states "his set is cuter" ... BUT ... the darn thing is sold ... if we can't get her another, then she says she'll just have to TRY and live with this thing we have here ... at ...

THE HEANEY WAREHOUSE
Bastion Street ...... (Furniture Dept.)

D. CAN PREVENT THIS happening to her if you came and bought it ... we're only trying to get $118 which is aCUTe price.

Little Stories for Bedtime - - -

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

SAMMY JAY BECOMES SUSPICIOUS

It's Sammy's nature to suspect
All things he cannot understand,
And then to silent flit about
And watch and peer on every hand.

Often he saw Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy

There are many people just like Sammy Jay. It is a very bad habit. At least, most people think so. It is very apt to make trouble for others, especially if the one who gets peering and spying about isn't wise enough to guard his tongue and keep to himself the things he finds out, particularly if they be bad or unpleasant things. Sammy Jay rather prides himself on knowing when to talk and when to keep still. There are certain people for whom Sammy delights in making trouble. Reddy Fox is one of these. Sammy never is so happy as when he can spoil Reddy's hunting. There are others for whom he delights in doing a good turn. You remember how he found Mr. Quack for Mrs. Quack and how he found Nanny Meadow Mouse for Danny Meadow Mouse. And many a time he has given his neighbors warning of danger.

Of course, Sammy Jay was one of the first to know about Reddy and Mrs. Reddy. He saw Reddy's great fight with the stranger fox up in the Old Pasture, with beautiful Miss Swiftwood looking on, and he knew then that she would become Mrs. Reddy. There being nothing slow about Sammy, he guessed right away that sooner or later there would be a new house, for he knew that Reddy would not take Mrs. Reddy home to live with old Granny Fox.

"They'll dig a new house either on the Green Meadows or in the Green Forest," thought Sammy. "I'll just keep my eyes open. I find it is a very good plan to know just where my neighbors live. There are times when the knowledge is very useful."

So, as he went about his own affairs, day after day Sammy kept his eyes open for signs of a new house, but without success. Often he saw Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy, sometimes on the Green Meadows, sometimes in the Green Forest, and always together. But after the arrival of sweet Mistress Spring there came a time when he seldom saw either of them. This was the time when they were so busy digging their new house up in the Old Pasture. Somehow Sammy hadn't once thought of looking up in the Old Pasture for that new house. He knew that Old Man Coyote lived there, and he knew that Reddy Fox had a great deal of respect for Old Man Coyote's strength and cunning, and it didn't once occur to Sammy that Reddy would for a minute think of making his home anywhere near that of Old Man Coyote.

After a time Sammy noticed that almost always when he met him Reddy Fox was alone. The first time Sammy didn't think anything about it, but after he had met Reddy alone several times, and had noticed that Reddy was too intent on hunting to stop and gossip as he used to do, Sammy's sharp wits began to work. He began to grow suspicious. Yes, sir, Sammy began to grow suspicious. He went off where he could be quite by himself and there he sat down to think.

"Reddy and Mrs. Reddy have dug that new house," thought he. "There is no doubt about it. They have dug that new home, and I haven't the least idea where. Now Reddy hunts alone most of the time, and he does a great deal more hunting than I ever knew him to do before at this time of year. There must be a reason for it. There is a reason for everything. He must be taking food home. If he is doing that it must be for someone besides himself. I think I'll take a day off and watch Reddy. I have an idea I may find out something interesting. That's what I'll do—I'll follow Reddy without letting him know it."

Sammy chuckled. Then he spread his blue wings and started to look for Reddy Fox.

How It Started—

FREEDOM

They say it is a terrible war, parley-voo,
They say it is a terrible war, parley-voo,
They say it is a terrible war
But what the hell are we fighting for?
Hinkey Dinkey, parley-voo.

Our boys sang it during the last war and laughed; they are not singing it in this war and they are not laughing; they know and we know what they are fighting for.

Now it is trite but it is dead right to say we are fighting for freedom; freedom here means, as it has meant from its very beginning in our mother tongue, liberty and independence from the dictates of aliens; and if this seems something too vague to fight for, cost what it may, till we have decisively won, there is nothing vague about what will be our lot, if every single one of us does not fight hard enough—and we lose.

Once upon a time, hundreds of years ago, the Scots fought the Saracens in Spain; and as they fought, the tradition is that they threw before them the bleeding heart of Robert Bruce; and then they gave everything they had fighting and dying, till they caught up with it.

Oh, for leaders who can inspire us, every single one of us one hundred and thirty millions of Americans, to stop bickering among ourselves, to hurl ahead of us, as we strike at a common enemy, the bleeding heart of freedom so that, like the heart of Robert the Bruce to the fighting Scots, we will be goaded on indomitably to the ultimate victory.

Favorites Successful

Seeded Players Score Victories

DETROIT, June 17 (AP).—Defending Champion Seymour Greenberg, of Chicago, and top-seeded Billy Talbert, of Cincinnati, led the unbroken advance of favorites today in the United States clay courts tennis championships.

Nancy Corbett, of Chicago, ranked second in women's singles, becomes the first seeded player in the meet to drop a set, but when she finally triumphed she went all the way to the finals in her division. Miss Corbett, nineteen-year-old Rollins College, Fla., junior, defeated Mary Hernando, of Detroit, 6-0, 3-6, 7-5.

In Sunday's final, Miss Corbett most likely will meet her college pal, Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles, the country's top-ranking women's player, who was idle today, and mhat dispose of Pearl Peterson, of Detroit, tomorrow to reach the finals.

Greenberg, little lefthander, turned back the challenge of lanky Robert Odman, University of Washington ace, who passed up defence of his Eastern inter-collegiate title for a shot at this meet. The scores were 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

Talbert breezed through a 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Fred Otto, of Grosse Points Park, Mich. Talbert next meets Bob Faught, Notre Dame player from Cleveland, while Greenberg's opponent is Leonard Karpeles, of Detroit.

Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 17 (CP).—Tony Allan, of The Winnipeg Tribune raises the question of the high cost of morale. Tony has dug up an estimate that Canadian racing fans will wager a total of $30,000,000 through the mutuels this year, of which the Government cut would be $3,000,000. He recalls that the Government gave its blessing to continuation of racing during the war as a means of maintaining morale but Allan adds: "Nevertheless we feel uneasy about that $30,000,000. It seems like a lot of money to spend on maintaining the morale of the people. The picture would be different if attendance was up and wagering down. Isn't there some cheaper form of amusement? . . . If people can afford to toss millions of dollars about nonchalantly, Mr. Fisley will be getting ideas."

TURK (CANTOR) BRODA

Toronto Globe and Mail: "Walter (Turk) Broda, goalie for Toronto Leafs, is threatening Eddie Cantor's claim to honors in the 'I Raise Daughters' League. Mrs. Broda presented Turk with another baby girl. She is the third daughter for the Broda household."

ACROSS CANADA

Halifax's swank Gorsebrook Golf Club course has been sold for partitioning into building lots because it was decided need for wartime housing the Maritimes port was greater than that for golf . . . Royals, in the Montreal major ladies' softball league, have six girls imported from Ontario, and Myrtle (Montreal Star) McGowan speculates the Royals are going after international honors. Ontario imports are Evelyn Dewey, Thelma Walmsley and Ruth Mantle, all of Sudbury; Mary Laham, Timmins; Olive Harrison, Ottawa, and Thelma Golden, Toronto . . . Don and Nick Metz, hockey-playing brothers with the Toronto Maple Leafs until last year, have been posted to Victoria for an army officer's training course. Both play with the Vancouver Island Army baseball team.

INCIDENTALLY

The National Hockey League probably still ranks playing ability well up on its requirements for player prospects, but there are indications a service rejection or discharge comes first. Toronto Leafs are dickering for services of Elwin Morris, former Toronto Argos football backfielder who played hockey with Toronto Navy last Winter. Morris is a good rushing defenceman, but it wasn't his playing ability that caught Happy Day's eye. Morris was honorably discharged from the Navy last week.

Lack of Farm Labor Studied At Conference

"The shortage of labor is considered serious by American as well as Canadian officials who foresee a possible food shortage," said C. A. Mudge, manager of the local Selective Service office, who has just returned from a conference of the International Association of Public Employment Services, held in Montreal and attended by 500 delegates.

The problem of "Manpower to produce and process food for victory" was one of the major questions discussed by the wartime conference. Manpower mobilization, women in war and various other problems facing Selective Service throughout the land and other matters of organization were discussed at length.

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, addressed the delegates on "Canada's Manpower Problem," and Mrs. Ealon spoke of the fine work being done by women in Canada, who, though lacking experience of their British sisters, had nevertheless made a wonderful contribution.

She said that women were still badly needed by the armed services, but warned nurses or teachers they should remain at their present work, which was just as vital.

Speaking of the shortage of workers in vital industries, Mr. Mudge stated that Ontario was endeavoring to meet it to some extent by allowing school children to leave school earlier than in the West, and that holidays had been extended to afford them the opportunity of working. There were a large number of children doing their bit in that province, he said.

While in Montreal Mr. Mudge also attended a conference of senior field officials of the Selective Service. Other representatives of British Columbia were Mrs. L. E. Leonard, female supervisor of the Victoria office; William McKinstry, acting regional superintendent; Horace Keeten and Miss E. Morley, of Vancouver.

Fight Title Is at Stake

Crowd of 50,000 Expected at Bout

LONDON, June 17 (CP).—Britain's greatest week of sport in wartime winds up on a major scale Saturday night when two little fellows meet at Glasgow for the world's flyweight boxing championship.

[illegible] ticket sales this week indicate that a police-limit crowd of 50,000 will be at Hampden Park to see Jackie Paterson, former Glasgow shipworker, battle Peter (Hurry) Kane, former flyweight king and once a Liverpool blacksmith.

Three titles will be at stake because Paterson holds the British and Empire crowns and is defending both in addition to trying for the world championship.

The scheduled fifteen-round bout—the majority of observers believe Paterson will win by a knockout—is recognized by both the New York State Athletic Commission and the British Boxing Board of Control as for the world title. The National Boxing Association in the United States recognizes Little Dado of the Philippines.

Paterson is a 3-to-1 favorite in Glasgow, where he has many admirers, and is favored by odds not quite as heavy elsewhere in Britain.

The fight ends a brilliant week of sport which started over last Whitsun week-end and includes two of the great racing classics—The Oaks, which is to be run tomorrow, and the Derby on Saturday.

Both Paterson, twenty-three-year-old southpaw with a knockout punch, and Kane, twenty-five and a skilled boxer, are sergeants in the R.A.F.

Kane will be fighting to regain a title he never lost in the ring. He won the world championship in 1936 by beating the Californian, Jackie Jurich, at Liverpool. A few months later he was forced to relinquish the title because of increasing weight.

But after joining the R.A.F. Kane found he could again make the 112-pound limit.

Since 1941 Paterson has fought three times as often as Kane and has had a meteoric rise since losing his London debut five years ago.

Will Extend Staggering Of Work Time

VANCOUVER, June 17 (CP).—Further "staggering" of working hours to help out the morning and evening peaks of city transportation is in prospect for Vancouver and other larger cities in Canada, E. W. Arnott, traffic manager of the British Columbia Electric Railway, said today. Arnott has just returned from Montreal where he attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Transit Association.

"Representatives of all the larger companies who have been watching the situation closely were agreed that the traffic situation will reach a new peak this coming Fall and Winter," he said.

"They agreed that this will entail further staggering as the only solution, in view of the fact that they may get no additional equipment, and all agreed that staggering has proved its worth very definitely."

Arnott added that the association decided to make representations to Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, explaining the situation and indicating that further staggering must be faced.

Western Head of C.P.R. Sees Good Future Assured

"We have enjoyed a period of prosperity and I don't see why it shouldn't continue, though I feel that Canada, which has the wheat to feed Europe and the lumber for rebuilding, will have a heavy load to carry in the post war period," said W. A. Mather, of Winnipeg, vice-president of the western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, striking an optimistic note in an interview at the Empress Hotel last night.

Mr. Mather is in Victoria for a meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Department of Natural Resources, of which he is a member. He will confer with S. G. Porter, chairman of the committee; G. Griffin, manager of the Department of Natural Resources, both of Calgary; G. A. Taylor, K.C., general solicitor, Montreal, and Mr. Naismith.

Commenting on the reserves of mineral and natural resources in the West, Mr. Mather said: "It's a big country and perhaps we don't know as much about it as we should or will know in the future." He felt that plans for the arterial development of the country could not be made definitely until a more intensive study could be made of the practically unknown north country.

The Alaska Military Highway was of enormous length and undoubtedly of great value to the United States but what use Canada could make of it in bringing out its northern wealth was not yet known, he said. The vast distance of the north complicated the question and careful study would be necessary before plans for extension of communication lines were made.

For the present the premier artery could handle the traffic, though it was heavy, and they had felt the pinch just like all other industries, he said.

Handing over of the Kathleen and the Margaret to the Dominion Government had naturally effected their coastal service, creating a heavier demand on their other vessels, but transportation difficulties in the West were not as great as in the Eastern provinces, said Mr. Mather.

Edmonton was very busy and all along the Mackenzie River was the same frenzied activity, but conditions were good throughout the country and crops in Manitoba promised to be very good.

Mr. Mather spoke of the irrigation fields of Southern Alberta where the sugar-beet industry was developing steadily year by year, adding that in Manitoba the sugar-beet factory was kept busy, as the districts east to Portage la Prairie, and south of Winnipeg, were going ahead.

He said that Victoria's progress was noticeable to the visitor. "Every time I come out here, I note the increased activity in your war industries which are certainly keeping pace with others in the West."

Mr. Mather is a frequent visitor here, having been here three times since early Spring.

REOPEN TRUE FISSURE

NELSON, June 17 (CP).—Codan Lead and Zinc Co., Ltd. will reopen True Fissure Mine at Ferguson and milling should start in sixty days, said N. E. Demers, vice-president and general manager of the company. Ten men are working at the mine and it is hoped a full crew of fifty or sixty men will be available. Production is figured at 100 tons daily and the plant will be shipping to the United States.

FIVE C'S LINE-UP

Line-up of the Five C's Cricket Club for tomorrow afternoon's match with the Albions at Beacon Hill Park will be as follows: J. Payne (captain), Attwell, Harper, G. Payne, Comley, Griffin, Gardiner, Shrimpton, Cornfield, Morton, Higgs and P. C. Payne.

OAKS TO WORK OUT

A workout of the Oaks lacrosse team will be held this evening at Stevenson's Memorial Park at 7 o'clock. Coach Louis Moro wants to see a full turnout of players and invites any youngster who wants to play this season to be present.

BEAVERS RELEASE PITCHER

PORTLAND, Ore., June 17 (AP).—The Portland Pacific Coast League Baseball Club announced today the unconditional release of Pitcher Earl Escalante, of San Jose, Calif. Escalante said he has an offer from the Oakland club and intends to accept it.

San Francisco nosed out Hollywood again 3-2 for three in a row. Al Epperly checked the Stars with four hits and was in trouble only in the seventh, when the home club scored both its runs. Bill Thomas, who started on the mound for Hollywood, was relieved in the ninth by Ron Smith.
